Union Passes OK on Strike

DETROIT —(AP)— UAM-CIO Local 600, representing 60,000 workers at the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company, Saturday voted a strike, subject to call by the International union.

The local announced tabulation of the secret ballot showed 2,902 favoring strike action and 172 opposed, with nearly 57,000 abstaining from voting.

The big local thus became the third Ford unit to authorize the UAM leadership to call a strike. Since the union ordered the strike polls a week ago, Ford workers at the firm's Mound Road plant here and one at St. Paul, Minn., have taken similar action.

Feetless Victims To Meet

RENO, Nev. — (AP) — A happy young bobby soxer who lost both feet in an auto accident is enroute here to tell pretty Imogene Wittsche that she, too, may be wearing bobby sox again soon.

Thirteen-year-old Imogene's feet were shorn off by a speedboat propeller at Lake Tahoe last Monday. The doctors then had to amputate her legs below the knees.

Whether Imogene knows this has been done, no one can say.

"Nobody has spoken to her directly about it," said her mother, Mrs. Fred Wittsche of Roseville, Calif.

"She has said that she won't be able to do certain things again, but the doctor keeps betting her that she will. They bet a coke on this and a coke on that."

DOES EVERYTHING

Imogene's visitor will be Norma Carruthers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carruthers of Topeka, Kas. Norma, also 13, walks, rides a bicycle and even swims with her artificial feet.

When Norma read about Imogene, she offered to come here to see if she can be of any help.

Imogene's doctor advised her to come on.

When Mrs. Wittsche was shown an AP wirephoto of Norma, she murmured:

"Oh, she has on bobby sox. She looks just like any other girl."

"We told Imogene of the wonderful things the doctors did for the soldiers during the war.

"But she is the kind of girl who has always wanted to see and do things for herself. That's why we think Norma will be of such great help," said the mother.

Meanwhile, charges were filed in federal court at Sacramento against Phil Davis, wealthy Oakland automobile dealer, who piloted the boat that ran over Imogene.

Fight for China Aid

WASHINGTON—(AP) — A group of senators today planned to challenge the State department's China policy with a multi-million dollar program of military and economic aid to the nationalist forces in China.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) told a reporter a "large number" of senators—both Republicans and Democrats—will support this new move to fight communism in Asia. The precise amount of aid to be asked has not been determined.

Secretary of State Acheson has said it would be disastrous for the United States to become involved in any large-scale effort to salvage the battered nationalist government.

But Knowland, Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.), and others disagree sharply.

Knowland said the group will fight for an amendment to the foreign aid bill or some other appropriation measure to give nationalist China the money, food, supplies and arms to continue the fight against the Red armies.

The tentative plan also calls for an American military mission similar to one sent to Greece to help in the fight against the communist guerrillas.

Timken Union 'Skips' Strike

CANTON —(AP)— Skipping talk of a strike, workers at the Canton and Gambrinus plants of the Timken Roller Bearing company urged Saturday that negotiations for a new contract continue.

Approximately 7,000 unionists here were the first to vote on the company's latest proposals on wages and sick benefits. In a standing vote, they decided neither to accept or reject the management offer.

Instead, they asked CIO-United Steel Workers and the company to resume conversations until July 16. That will be the end of a mass vacation that started yesterday. On that date, they will take another vote that could mean a strike.

McGregor Backs Old Age Plan

Flays Present Social Security

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Calling for an end of "stingy benefits" under present social security, Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) Saturday urged adoption of a comprehentive system of old-age security.

In an address before the national convention of Townsend clubs, McGregor urged Congress to adopt a national system of old-age security that will include millions of persons not covered by social security.

Citing the "endless administrative chaos' 'in the present social security system, McGregor said plans for full development of the existing system show it will cost $40,000,000,000 a year.

"This is nearly as much as the present annual budget of the federal government," he said.

"PATCHED-UP LAW"

McGregor said Congress was "correcting" present inequalities in social security "by extending, amending and patching up the clearly ineffective law that is now on the books."

"Workable and sufficient security to protect the American people in their right to a decent living standard in old age and during periods of disability and handicap is never going to result from such a system," he said.

McGregor said aged citizens were being treated "as objects of charity" and being given "just enough to keep alive." He said some 2,500,000 old people are receiving an average of $42 a month in old age assistance and the amount was "entirely inadequate."

The congressman declared the Townsend plan, if put into operation, would not cost as much as social security is going to cost, although it would provide far higher benefits.

He said it would make it unnecessary for states to tax their own inhabitants for one-half of old-age pensions, as all states must do under the present law.

In Ohio alone, the Townsend plan would save each year $34,683,000 in taxes, he added.

A national system of old-age security would eliminate the "tremendous reserves" being built under the present law, and would produce sound economy by "paying the bill as we go," McGregor declared.

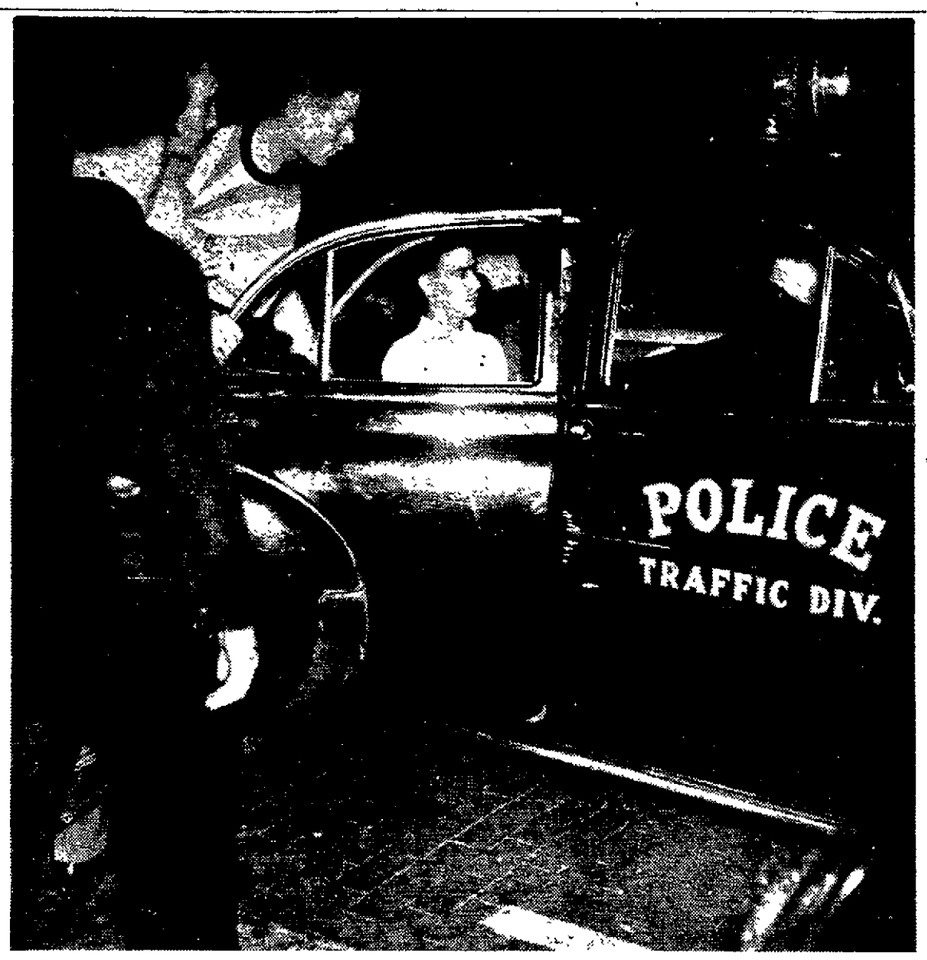
Raps Raise In Salaries

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche Saturday called for protection of a "fatigued taxpaying public" and voiced objection to any legislation increasing salaries of school teachers or state employes.

In a prepared statement which reiterated his pleas for economy, the governor said:

"It is still my conviction that no new spending ought to be undertaken which will place the state financially in the red, or will require new taxes to keep the fiscal ledger in the black.

"If the school teachers bill and the present contemplated increase in the salaries of state employes are passed in their present form, it will involve new expenditures of at least $35,000,000.



CAUGHT IN RAID—Arresting officers hustle three youths into a police car following a raid at 34½ West Fourth street last night. Neighbors had complained of wild parties and cursing, adding that teen-aged girls often visited the crowded upstairs apartment. One 13-year-old Mansfield girl was caught in the raid along with another, aged 22. Four girls and five youths were taken to police headquarters in two separate squad car trips. All face a juvenile court hearing Tuesday morning.

Little Iron Curtain Set Up

Armed Czechs Guard Priests From Reds

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — (AP) — Slovak peasants armed with scythes, pitchforks and clubs stand guard around their Roman Catholic priests to shield them from communist police.

This was the picture given last night by reliable Slovak sources to responsible church circles and diplomats as this nation, torn by state-church conflict, embarked on a long week-end of religious holidays marked by pilgrimages to places famed in early Christian history.

It was difficult, if not impossible, for westerners to go to the intensely Catholic eastern province to have a personal look at the situation because of travel restrictions suddenly announced by the government for diplomatic personnel.

These restrictions for the time being appeared to have sealed off troubled Slovakia with a little iron curtain.

The best possible sources of information in Slovakia reported villagers up in arms in various parts of the province, however, to prevent a repetition of the riotous scenes of last week-end.

CLASH WITH POLICE

At that time—according to reports from these informants and which since have been confirmed by reliable Czechs here—enraged Slovaks clashed with police who attempted to intimidate and arrest priests who were loyal to Archbishop Josef Beran, the nation's primate.

These reports said at least two policemen were fatally beaten and an undetermined number of persons injured.

Some diplomats cautioned against exaggeration of past incidents, but said they had reports of continuing unrest in Slovakia as the holiday pilgrimages began.

Hiss Trial Nears End

NEW YORK — (AP)—Alger Hiss probably will know his fate by next weekend.

The perjury case against the handsome, 44-year-old defendant, who carved out a brilliant government career during the days of the New Deal, is expected to go to to the jury next Friday.

He was indicted by a federal grand jury last December which charged that he lied when he denied slipping secret government documents to Whittaker Chambers, avowed ex-courier for a Red spy ring.

If convicted on the two-count indictment, Hiss faces a maximum of 10 years in prison and a fine of $4,000.

The dramatic trial ended its fifth week Friday. Throughout the tense court room days, Hiss and his top defense counsel, white-haired Lloyd Paul Stryker, have denied point by point the foundation of the case the government has built against the defendant.

The trial has been a legal struggle over the veracity of Hiss, the accused, and Chambers, the accuser.

City's Family Income Averages $5,519

The average family income in Mansfield topped the national average by nearly $1,000 last year.

A buying power survey conducted by Sales Management showed yesterday that the average family in Mansfield had an income of $5,519 in 1948.

The national average was $4,531, while the average in Ohio was $4,817. The north-central states showed an average of $4,896 per family.

The Mansfield figure was based on a total income of $77,817,000 for the city's 14,100 families last year.

On a per capita basis, the average "spendable" income in Mansfield was $1,688, compared with $1,289 for the country as a whole.

Better earnings in the city last year resulted in a higher level of business activity. Retail sales in Mansfield stores reached a volume of $64,979,000, a considerable gain over the total of $55,529,000 in 1947.

Mansfield did .0498 per cent of the retail business of the nation with only .0314 per cent of the country's population.

Rating the city on the basis of its business activity and other factors, the survey assigned to Mansfield a "quality of market" index of 133, meaning it is 33 per cent above the average city in terms of purchasing power.

The copyrighted survey covered every county in the United States and all cities above 10,000 in population.

Death Toll Reaches 121

Nine Fatalities Recorded In Ohio

(By Associated Press)

At least 121 persons who started out on a carefree Fourth of July week-end will never see another holiday.

Four persons died in a single trafic accident in New Haven, Conn., and another highway crash took four lives in Texas.

Live-Lobster Lover Irks His Landlady

BALTIMORE — (AP)—Live lobsters in the boarding house bathtub?

That is just positively, finally and completely too much.

So said the landlady, Mrs. Philip J. Padovan, yesterday.

She told Police Judge James Cadden that she was mad enough when 52-year-old Perce J. Spence insisted on keeping a pigeon, several dogs and at least one cat in his room.

Then came the lobster, which she found swimming around in the bathtub.

Judge Cadden fined Spence $50 on the ground he was responsible for the ruckus which developed in the rooming house.

Spence told the judge he was a lover of birds and animals.

And the lobster?

"Oh, I was going to eat that."

Papa Broke, Delivers Own Infant

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Milton Harvey just didn't "have time or money enough to get a doctor," so he delivered his own baby daughter Saturday.

Harvey, a 32-year-old social security board employe who lives at nearby Jacobsville, reported that he "'and the stork" arrived at 5:30 a. m.

Mrs. Bernice Harvey, 31, and the baby are doing fine, said papa.

A couple of months ago the Harvey family was burned out of its home and lost everything. "We have been short of cash and when the time came for the infant's arrival, I just decided to do it myself," said Harvey. "I was scared stiff."

1950 Budget Proposals Face Action

Council to Get General Fund Plan

A proposed general fund budget for 1950 of $798,504, some $207,947 more than was appropriated for this year, will be studied by city council at its meeting Wednesday.

The proposed budget was compiled by department heads and council's finance committee.

It is not a record request. Last year the proposed budget was $825,804, some $27,700 more than the 1950 request.

After city council action Wednesday the budget will be submitted to the county budget commission.

The proposed budget lists the estimated amounts needed to cover expenditures in the city departments drawing their revenue from local taxes. Nearly one-half of the funds needed for operation of these departments is for police and fire protection.

Combined, the police and fire departments are requesting $353,040. The police department's requested $122,120 is $4,600 over the amount appropriated this year. The increase is for added personnel.

Largest request made by any one department is the fire department's proposed budget of $230,920, some $85,800 more than they had this year. The additional funds were requested by Chief L. J. Steele for the construction of a new fire station at an estimated cost of $55,000, and the purchase of new tractor-type fire truck for $30,000.

The largest increase on one item over the 1949 appropriation is a $100,000 request for new storm sewer. This is $80,000 more than was appropriated for this purpose this year. The city's relief bill if the proposed budget remains unchanged will be boosted from $10,000 this year to $15,000 in 1950.

Under the proposed budget the city parks will be operated at a cost of $71,100 in 1950. That is $21,800 more than it cost this year.

Some of the improvements that would be financed by the increased budget would be the remodeling of the Prospect Park building, tennis courts and ball diamonds at John Todd park and a $10,000 sum for general improvement in the system.

Mob Flogs War Veteran

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (AP) — A disabled war veteran said Saturday he was flogged by hooded and robed men the day after the state legislature passed a law to ban the wearing of masks in Alabama.

John Thomas Franks, 34, told newsmen he was flogged last Wednesday night near his home in the little community of Boston, 90 miles northwest of Birmingham.

Franks said two men dragged him from his home. His wife and two children were asleep.

The men, joined by about 10 others, took him to a wooded area and lashed him about 20 times, he continued. He showed newsmen partially healed lash wounds.

Franks said the masked men accused him of drinking and staying away from home. He denied it.

State investigators were requested to investigate the flogging. Marion county Sheriff Dewey Lloyd could not be reached for comment.

Franks, who said he draws disability pay from the government for wartime wounds, works part time in a small coal mine.

Nab 9 In Surprise Vice Raid

13-Year-Old Held In Jail

Mansfield police last night arrested nine persons, including three teen-agers, after raiding what neighbors termed a "juvenile love-nest" at 34½ West Fourth street.

Four girls, including a 13-year-old Eighth avenue youngster, and five youths ranging in age from 19 to 27, were bagged in the raid. At least two other boys walked into the arms of the police at the apartment following the raid. They were questioned and released.

According to several persons who lived in the building, 12 youths lived in the apartment and had for several months made the place the scene of wild parties involving bobby-soxers.

Of the four girls arrested last night, one, 20 years old, gave her address as Akron; a 22-year-old as Park avenue west; and an 18-year-old as Greenwich. All five of the youths gave their addresses as 34½ West Fourth street.

Neighbors reported that seven teen-agers fled down the back stairway when police raided the apartment a month ago. Only two youths were found there at the time.

TWO HAVE RECORDS

According to police, at least two of the youths reported as residents at that address have criminal records.

Neighbors said four young girls, all of whom appeared to be in their teens, were "regulars" at the apartment and they were often joined by various other girls and youths.

Police Captain Clare W. Kyler said last night the group faces a hearing before juvenile court Tuesday morning. None were to be released from jail last night although several persons appeared to post bond for the prisoners.

Arresting officers were Capt. Kyler and Patrolman Thomas Hempfield.

Police officials said it appeared that none of the youths living in the apartment were working.

The raid and subsequent arrests followed numerous complaints to the health and fire officials concerning garbage and trash piled about the back stairs and other complaints to the police concerning boisterous parties which school-aged girls and boys attended.

The latest complaint was one filed at 2:15 a. m. a week ago Friday when neighbors called police to quiet the group down.

According to the complainants, four youths originally rented the apartment and kept expanding their number until twelve were using it regularly.

They added that the youths sublet the apartment from a woman who had been warned several times by officials to oust the renters.

"The girls wore dungarees and sweaters," one irate woman declared. "They were nothing but kids. These fellows brought them up here at all hours of the day and night. The girls would slip up and down the back stairs at first, then they started coming up the front way."

Other neighbors verified her statements.

Plan Hospital Wedding Rites

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—A heroic high school girl who helped her sweetheart kill the masked bandit who shot him and attempted to rape her, made plans last night to marry him today at his hospital bedside.

Pretty Blonde, 16-year-old Betty Bowen and her Oklahoma City sweetheart, Alwyn (Sonny) Ivers, 19, will be wed as they had planned if he survives.

Ivers was given an even chance to survive, despite a gaping wound from a bullet that entered his mouth and lodged in his neck near his spine. The boy and his fiancee were seated in a car on a hill overlooking southwest Los Angeles Friday night when a masked man jerked open a door and demanded Ivers' money.

Dogs Big Business In Lucas Community

By VIRGINIA LEE, N-J State Correspondent.

LUCAS—Dogs are big business in this community.

There are four kennels and a beagle club near Lucas as the howling canines crowd lesser animals out of the local spotlight.

Lloyd "Andy" Andrews, dean of Richland county dog fanciers, operates Andy's Kennels where beagles get top billing. Homer McClurg, another beagle dealer, is another veteran in the business.

The 13-year-old Pore twins, Donny and Dewey, raise king-size St. Bernard dogs at their Dow-Dew Kennels and dog lovers know the virtues of Louis Bromfield's Malabar Farm boxers.

Andrews has been in the beagle business 25 years. Forest Pore and his sons have been in the St. Bernard business five years but it was not until this summer the kennel began to bear the boys' names.

Lucas probably is the only place in the country that has a beagle club. The Lucas Beagle club was established in 1939 for sportsmen primarily interested in running dogs.

Since that time the club has grown to include trapshooters and big game hunters, regardless of whether or not they are dog owners. The club owns ground and a clubhouse on the former Vern Richey farm between Lucas and Mansfield.

Civic-Minded Bucyrians Plan Park 'Face-Lifting'

BUCYRUS—Bucyrus' municipally-owned Aumiller park will get a "face-lifting" through the efforts of a civic group organized last week.

The group, to be known as the Citizens' Betterment League, is composed of local businessmen with Clayton Gerhart, grocer, as chairman.

Contemplated improvements by the group include construction of 50 or more additional benches, installation of a score of portable outdoor ovens, tree cutting and trimming and building of a new road and walks in the park.

The group's program also includes ornamentation of the park entrance, painting of all playground equipment and a general cleanup of the park.

Gerhart said the work will be started at once and should be completed within a month. He said the newly-formed group will work in cooperation with the city and the park board.

Bucyrus Police Cooperating In Ohio Highway Safety Check

BUCYRUS — Bucyrus police, cooperating with the Ohio State highway patrol and Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck, this month began their annual safety check of motor cars.

Local police, along with other law enforcement agencies, will set up road blocks to give on the spot examination if cars. The campaign will continue throughout July.

Police Charles Ghist, department safety officer, expressed the hope many motorists would voluntarily ask for a check of their cars. Motorists whose cars are judged "safe" are given a window sticker signifying their car has been checked. If a defect is found, a reasonable time will be given the owner to have the condition remedied.

Last year, 1,238 cars were checked by Bucyrus police. Of this number, 102 were found to have defects requiring attention, Lt Ghist reported.

Ohio's 'Am' Golf Legions Head for Westbrook

Mansfield Team Knocked Out of Tourney

175 Aces Expected In Meet

Westbrook Country club will take on a tournament air this week as golfers from all corners of the Buckeye State prepare for the Ohio Amateur tournament which opens here a week from tomorrow.

The 42nd annual "Am" is expected to draw up to 175 entrants and a majority of the number will visit the course sometime during the week to get in a few practice licks. Several have already been in town to acquaint themselves with the course.

Pro Tom Raklets said last night that golfers from as far as Dayton had been in recently to test the course. Three Ashland men — Dick Lentz, Bob Garrison, and Bob Enck— played a round and indicated they intended to enter the Amateur.

Mansfield's chances of placing one of its favorite sons at the top were given a jolt yesterday when county champion Bob Moorhead announced that he would not compete. Moorhead said business would not allow him to take a week off for the tournament. Moorhead further added that he may not defend his county title this fall.

Some six to ten Westbrook members and the two Public Links qualifiers will carry the banner for Mansfield. Already having submitted entries from Westbrook are Carl Wiseman, Al Hager, Vic Salter, Gene Zediker, Dale Rose and Dick Koozer. Tel Etzel and Pete Thomas qualified by being in the top 24 finishers of the Ohio Publinx tournament. They have been extended week-day practice privileges at the club.

HOME TOWNERS WIN

Ohio Golf association records show that familiarity with a course has paid off in the past as home-town men have triumphed in 13 of the 41 tournaments. Mansfield is the smallest city ever to be host to the tournament. Lima and Springfield are the only other cities under 100,000 who ever had the event.

Prizes for the event were purchased last week by a local committee. All are sterling silver. The winner will get a cigarette humidor, runner-up a water pitcher, and the two men defeated in semi-finals a silver tray. The medalist for the first two days play is to get a cocktail shaker.

Harold Paddock of Cleveland won the title last year by defeating Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati in the 36-hole finale. Mansfield's Al Hager went to the semi-finals before bowing out to McCarthy.

N-J '4' Golf Loop To Start Second Round Tuesday

The News - Journal A golf league will have another new scoring system when it begins the second half season Tuesday evening at Possum Run

League secretary Red Dillon has announced that starting Tuesday, the maximum number of points possible for one man will be ten instead of 18 Each player will continue to match medal scores with every other man in his position but will compete in match play only against the opponent in his four - some.

In the first half cards were matched for both medal and match with every other player of corresponding position While giving a true index of ability, this system proved too unwieldy in the bookkeeping department

One change the second half will be the reappearance of Carl Kishin as number one man for Komjos Cloting. Kishin was forced to lay off several weeks ago because of a back injury but recovered sooner than expected

Dave Templeton Gets Bid For All-Star Grid Game

Burly Dave Templeton former Mansfield Senior high school football star has accepted a bid to appear in the 16th Chicago All-Star football game

The 28-year-old Cleveland Browns rookie is the fifth standout college guard to be named to play against the Philadelphia Eagles, National Pro league champions, Aug. 12 at Chicago's Soldier's field. The game, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune, annually pits the cream of America's college gridders against the National league champions

Captain of the Ohio State football team in 1948, Templeton is rated as one of the top defensive guards in football. He will join the Cleveland Browns in training at Bowling Green after the game.

Templeton is the only Ohio State player picked so far as the all-star squad now numbers 36 players. Oklahoman Bund Wilkinson, coach of the collegians, said yesterday that 70 college players would be chosen.

Preceding Templeton as guard selections were Bill Fischer and Marty Wendell of Notre Dame, Joe Steffy of Army and Buddy Burris of Oklahoma

Templeton was a member of the east squad in the Jan. 1 East-West charity game in San Francisco and played several games in the Hawaiian Islands as a member of a touring American college team

Changes in today's lineup deal chiefly with the infield as Wilbur Wade is to be moved to third base in replacement of Mike Gruber Tick Hamilton will fill in for Wade behind the bat

Manager Lefty Deeds also plans to have Shortstop Shelly Swim and Second - baseman Dick Poth switch positions.

Cigars Play Tom's

D & M Cigar store plays Tom's Restaurant in an exhibition softball game today at 2 p.m. at Johns park. The Cigars have won 14 and lost four this year. Manager Bobby Santoro will pitch either Don Gross or Willie Fowler against Tom's.

Brothers Get Into Softball Act; Six Sets Play In American Loop

By CHARLEY STINE

The major league brother acts of the DiMaggios, Coopers, and Walkers are pikers as far as Mansfield softball teams are concerned.

Instead of being a rarity, brother acts are the common thing on local nines. Assembling a few sets of brothers appears to be the logical way of organizing a team

Take the fast American league for example. There are no less than six sets of brothers in that circuit. League-leading Liederkranz has three Windsors and two McCarricks. Todd's Jewelry has three Smollens. Farm Tools has three Backenstos and two Zeiglers, and Sons of Herman is the champ of all with four Kanz boys.

Many of the combinations such as the Windsor battery have been going on for years but a number of the brothers are playing together for the first time.

There is Jack and Bill McCarrick who have a total of 20 years' experience on local softball fields Yet they are on the same team for the first time as Jack plays third and Bill center field for Liederkranz.

The Windsors are completely united for the first time Frank has been behind the bat in the majority of Kenny's five no-hit games but young Donnie joined up only this spring and is used as a utility man.

The Smollens are another case where the "kid brother" is being indoctrinated this year. Joe and Ed have played together for a long time on many teams Now 17-year-old Paul is wearing the same uniform and patrolling the outfield.

Veterans of play together are the Kanz and Backensto brothers. The Kanz boys are back with Sons of Herman this year after all four took a one-season sojourn with Tappan Stove.

Dick does the pitching, with Leo on first base, and Rob on third. Bill gets in his share of utility work.

Only two Backenstos are now playing for Farm Tools although a third is on the roster. Playing now are "Buss" at first base and Bob in the outfield Chuck, a second-baseman, hurt his neck early in the year, but will be back for the second half season. A fourth brother, Dick, started the season with the team but is now playing with Madison in the 15-16 year old Hot Stove league.

"Buss" and Chuck played baseball together for years but this is the first year for Bob to play on the same team with the other two.

Clint and Carl Zeigler are reunited on the Farm Tools team this year after being apart since some years back when they played together in a Friendly House league.

Left-fielder Clint has been with Farm Tools for three years but Carl joined up this season to play third base after cavorting with Park Avenue Baptist in the Church league.

Plymouth Smashes Out 15-3 Victory

Plymouth's surprising American Legion junior baseball team yesterday eliminated the Mansfield Legion juniors from further tournament competition in a rather convincing manner at Blue Goose field, 15 to 3. Mansfield had been runner-up for the state title in 1948.

The victory, Plymouth's second over Mansfield, gave the visitors the Richland county championship which has always seemed to be Mansfield's private property. Plymouth plays Bellvue in the opening round of the district tournament today at 2:30 p. m. at New London.

The game was originally scheduled to be played in Shelby but was transferred to Blue Goose yesterday when the Shelby diamond was found to be too wet for play. District competition at New London also was shoved back a day by wet grounds.

Plymouth defeated Mansfield twice by top heavy scores in the county meet. Last Sunday, Plymouth won 15-2 in a protested game while Mansfield came back to even the count, 2 to 1, in 10 innings Wednesday. Mansfield had protested the first game when Plymouth used an ineligible player for two innings. However, district officials turned down the protest.

A gift of six runs in the second inning yesterday gave Plymouth an insurmountable lead. From then on it was just a question of how many runs the visitors could score.

Ford opened the second with a single and Jakey Schmidt threw Guthrie's double-play ball into right field. Meiser walked to fill the bases and Pitcher Charles Wallace singled home one run, leaving the hassocks crammed Grabach skied to Ed Schmitt and Norm Hughes followed by throwing Alfrey's grounder away at the plate. Catcher Ken McCally then threw wild trying to pick Meiser off third base. Two singles and a pair of walks ran the inning's total to seven runs.

SCHRECK HOMERS

Plymouth scored two more in the fourth, one in the sixth, two in the seventh and three in the eighth. Shortstop Larry Schreck homered for the single run in the sixth.

Wallace, who seems to have the Indian sign on Mansfield, pitched shutout ball except for the sixth inning when the home team counted all three of its runs. Wallace gave up a total of only six hits, fanned 11 and walked but two. In the three games against Mansfield, the 16-year-old Shiloh high school pitcher permitted only 15 hits, seven runs and struck out 34.

Dave Hardy went the whole way for Mansfield and was touched for 11 bingles He walked six and fanned three.

Cleveland Drops Tilt To Brownies

CLEVELAND —(AP)— The Cleveland Indians put on another demonstration of cream puff hitting yesterday and dropped a 4-2 decision to Karl Drews and the St. Louis Browns.

Drews had to retire in the ninth inning when he was seized with an attack of wildness. Ned Garver got the Tribe out after allowing one hit and two runs. Bob Lemon was the loser.

Rookie Roy Sievers nailed the victory in the ninth with a three-run homer.

Pitching his first victory since May 11, Drews was well in command until he got his final inning jitters. He allotted the world champs only three hits.

When he went out after hitting a batter and walking another, Garver finished walking Doby, then left Joe Gordon score Jim Hegan from third with a fly to left. Lou Boudreau's single to left center put Mickey Vernon across the plate, but Bob Kennedy's infield grounder forced Doby at third and ended the rally.

ONE UNTIL NINTH

Lemon gave a fairly good account of himself for the 25,998 fans, 19,618 of them paid, until that last inning. Up to then, the Browns had only one run, an unearned marker in the third inning due to Shortstop Ray Boone's wild throw to first base.

But in that final frame, Sievers drove a homer over the left field fence, his fifth this season, scoring Jack Graham and Andy Anderson ahead of him. Mike Garcia went the rest of the way for Cleveland.

The righthanded Drews was especially tough on the Tribe from the fourth through the eighth innings when he allowed only one fair ball to be hit out of the infield.

During the five inning span, 12 of the 15 Cleveland batters were retired at first base, another was forced at second, and the other fouled out.

The defeat thrust the Indians another game behind the racing New York Yankees. The Tribe now trails by 8½ games.

Boudreau cracked two singles in four trips today to run his three game streak to six hits in thirteen at bats.

Snead Leads Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sam Snead played practically flawless golf yesterday to rack up a great eight-under-par 64 in the second round of the $15.000 Washington Star open golf tournament.

This, coupled with his 69 of Friday, gave him a 133 and the half-way mark in the 72-hole meet. Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, with a fine 65 yesterday was but a stroke behind Snead, at 134.

Tied for third, at 135, were Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C., who was last year's winner here, and E J. "Dutch" Harrison of Little Rock, Ark.

Tribe Farms Al Rosen to Padres

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians sent third baseman Al Rosen to the Tribe farm club at San Diego yesterday on 24-hour recall.

At the same time Rosen went to the Padres of the Pacific Coast league, Hal Peck was removed from the Indians' inactive list for use as a pinchhitter. Peck had been on the inactive list for the past six weeks because of a knee injury.

Cubs Buy Mickey Owen on Waivers

CHICAGO —(AP)— Catcher Arnold (Mickey) Owen, one of the "forgiven" jumpers to the Mexican league, yesterday was purchased by the Chicago Cubs from the Brooklyn Dodgers for the $10,000 waiver price.

Owen, now 32, was a highly rated defensive catcher before he fled the Dodgers for the Mexican league in 1946.

The Cubs have sorely needed an experienced receiver since Bob Scheffing fractured his thumb May 17.

Americans Top English Tennis

LONDON—(AP)—Louise Brough the Beverly Hills, Calif., blonde outlasted Margaret Osborne du Pont of Wilmington, Del., 10-8, 1-6, 10-8, in a gruelling duel to win the women's singles title in the Wimbledon tennis championship yesterday.

It was the second straight Wimbledon triumph for the sturdy Miss Brough who was able to withstand the pace of the match that lasted just short of two hours better than her rival

Miss Brough thus joined Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., who captured the men's singles yesterday in giving Americans a virtual monopoly on the ancient British court championships.

Frank Parker and Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles whipped Schroeder and Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, Fla., in the men's doubles, 6-4 8-6 6-2 while Miss Brough and Miss du Pont took the women's doubles with an 8-6, 7-5, victory over Gussie Moran of Santa Monica, Calif., and Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif.

The Brough-Osborne match was an old story. These two rivals, who have met many times in the past, produced their usual close contest. By the time the third set got started, both were pretty well tired out.

Miss Brough's victory, before a packed center court of 17,000 fans, marked the fourth year in a row that an American has won the women's singles crown. Mrs. du Pont was 1947 titlist and Pauline Betz of Los Angeles the 1946 champion.

Wanted This Hole In One

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — "I'd rather hit this ball into the cup than be elected governor of Oklahoma," automobile dealer Fred Jones told his golfing companions.

The ball hit three feet short of the cup on the 176-yard par three hole at the Oklahoma City country club course and rolled in for a hole-in-one. It was the first ace for Jones in 30 years of golfing.

Three days ago he said he was seriously considering running for governor next year.

Assault Comes Back to Victory

NEW YORK — (AP) — King Raick's gallant old ex-champion, Assault, proved they do come back yesterday when he scorched down the Aqueduct stretch in a blazing finish to capture the $58,700 Brooklyn handicap.

He was cheered mildly as he went to the post by the crowd of 27,877.

The six-year-old son of Bold Venture-Igual and a grandson of the great Equipoise slammed under the finish line three-fourths of a length in front of I. J. Collins' Vulcan's Forge. It required a look at the photo to separate Vulcan's Forge and Flying Missel, another King ranch horse, which got third money.

Assault, voted "Horse of the Year" in 1946 after he copped the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont for a triple crown grand slam, has been out of action since February 21, 1948, when he ran fifth in the Widener handicap.

He came out of that one lame, and was retired. This is his second start since. He was barely beaten in an overnight tuneup here June 24 when he got a weak ride.

But there wasn't anything wrong with the "old man" this time. His clocking for the mile and one-quarter of the Brooklyn was a fast 2:024/5, just three-fifths of a second slower than Stymie's record for the stake made in 1945.

Assault collected $40,600 to raise his earnings to $668,020, making him fourth in that department behind Stymie, Citation and Armed.

6 Mansfield Softball Teams Unbeaten

Putting Fundamentals

By ALEX J. MORRISON

ONE of my pupils has been so interested in the various shots played from tee to green that he has done little or nothing about putting. Playing up to the green he beats most of the members of his club. When reckoning the number of strokes he requires on the velvet he is some distance back in the parade.

His lack of interest in this "croquet department" is typical of many golfers, particularly those who could lower their average scores by several strokes simply by doing a little honest work with the putter.

When it comes to the method which should be followed in putting I realize that most players believe it to be a matter of "every man to his own poison." Yet, there are certain bases to be tagged or you just can't score.

Since these bases leave you ample leeway to indulge some notions of your own, I will outline them as "musts." The putter should be balanced so that it is not head-heavy or the head toe-heavy.

YOUR GRIP should afford you good finger touch and control and leave both wrists free. Take your grip only when the clubhead rests on the ground in its natural position. Place clubhead to the ball before arranging your feet, have the clubface at right angles to the line of play and the heel of the striking surface opposite the center of the ball.

Hold the clubhead in this position while arranging your feet and body. Keep your body comfortable. Swing the club mainly with wrist action, wrists bending, but not rolling. And learn to hold your head steady until long after your club has struck the ball.

When you have mastered this routine you will have a putting technique that will never find you taking more than 36 strokes per round on the greens and you will drop your share of long ones.

Church Nine Holds Best Loop Mark

Only six of 45 Mansfield softball teams hold undefeated records in league play as three of the city circuits head into the second round of play this week.

Three of the unbeaten squads are in the Girls' league, two in the Church circuit and one in the International league. American Legion Post 16 tops the International with four straight but has been tied by the Amvets.

SEVERAL TO GO

Although the American, National and International league schedule goes into the second round this week there are several first round postponements yet to be decided. The most muddled situation exists in the National where Office Cafe and Westinghouse are knotted with four wins and two defeats. Ideal Electric and D. & M. Cigar store have three-two marks and each have one game to make up.

The Cigars play sixth-place Lumbermens at Johns park Thursday.

Park Avenue Baptist's five straight Church loop wins is still tops for Mansfield.

★

All practice field assignments for teams drawing byes have been cancelled by the softball committee of the Mansfield Athletic commission. The bye dates will be used to play off postponed games.

★

If all league champions are decided by Aug. 15, a city softball tournament will be staged.

Yank Clipper Clubs Home Four Tallies

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK —(AP)— Washington pitchers held Joe Di Maggio homerless for the second straight game yesterday but the Yankee Clipper drove home four runs on a pair of singles to spark the New York Yankees to a 10-2 triumph over the Senators.

Di Maggio, who was named to the American League's all-star team before the game, singled home two runs in the first inning and delivered two more in the eighth with his second hit.

Between the two safeties Di-Maggio flied out twice and grounded out once.

Since he began playing last Tuesday, DiMaggio has driven home 13 runs in five games and has extended a hitting streak that began last season to 18 consecutive games.

Lefty Tommy Byrne went the distance for the Yanks to gain his sixth triumph. Byrne yielded seven hits and walked seven batters. The Senators scored both of their runs in the third when Sam Mele clubbed a two-out triple with two on.

The victory was the Yankees' fifth straight and it enabled them to maintain their five-and-one-half game lead over the runner-up Philadelphia Athletics. The A's downed the Boston Red Sox, 3-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Joe Coleman.

ONE IN FIRST

Coleman gave up a run in the first when Ted Williams tripled and scored on Vern Stephens' single. The A's took the lead in the third, scoring twice on singles by Mike Guerra, Don White, Ferris Fain and Sam Chapman.

Detroit's Tigers took over third place from the Cleveland Indians, edging the Chicago White Sox, 7-6, in 11 innings as the Indians bowed, 4-2, to the St. Louis Browns.

Don Kolloway, formerly of the White Sox, broke up the game when he singled home George Kell in the second extra frame at Detroit. Pat Mullin sent the game into overtime with a homer in the bottom of the ninth.

The National league's front-running Brooklyn Dodgers came from behind and beat the New York Giants 13-8 in a home run battle at the Polo Grounds. Each team belted four homers.

After the Giants had built up an 8-4 lead on round-trippers by Bobby Thomson, Sid Gordon, Ray Mueller and Willard Marshall in the first five innings, the Dodgers went to town.

Gene Hermanski tied the count at 8-8 with a grand slam homer in the sixth. Pee Wee Reese broke the tie with his tenth round-tripper in the eighth and Carl Furillo and Reese insured the verdict with homers in the ninth. Reese's second-four bagger came with two on base.

GET TRIPLE PLAY

The Pittsburgh Pirates turned in the fourth triple play of the season in beating the Chicago Cubs, 9-3, in the National's only other game.

With the bases loaded in the third Andy Pafko lined to third baseman Pete Castiglione. Castiglione, in trying to run for third in the same motion dropped the ball. He then picked it up, tagged Walt Dubiel who stood on third, then stepped on the bag to force Hal Jeffcoat for the second out. Castiglione then threw to Catcher Phil Masi who yelled for the ball. Masi noticed that Pafko didn't run and he fired the ball to first to complete the three-ply killing.

The Pirates sewed up the game with a five-run rally in the seventh inning that Ralph Kiner ignited with his 20th homer.

TIE FOR THIRD

Blix Donnelly, veteran right-hander, tossed a six-hitter against the Boston Braves for a 3-2 victory that moved the Phillies back into a third-place tie with the National league champions last night before a 21,661 crowd in Boston. One of the Tribesmen's hits was rookie catcher Del Crandall's first major league home run.

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer was as hot as the mid-west heat wave last night as he pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 3 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Not a Redbird base runner reached second base on the 34-year-old veteran, who gave up but three singles.

Joe DiMaggio Is Named To All-Star Squad Again

CHICAGO —(AP)— Outfielder Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees yesterday was named to the American league squad for his 11th all-star game appearance at Brooklyn, July 12.

It was a special appointment by All-Star Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians, announced through the American league office here.

Because of injury, DiMaggio had not been considered in the All-Star poll of more than 4,637,000 fans which closed last Wednesday.

Boudreau, however, had the privilege of naming the rest of his All-Star squad beyond the eight non-pitching starters picked by the fans.

TWO WEEKS AGO

Boudreau explained he had asked DiMaggio more than two weeks ago—well in advance of Joe's sensational comeback during the past week—if he would accept an all-star nomination.

"Di Maggio said he would like to be on the All-Star squad again," said Boudreau. "I felt he belonged on it, even though he had not played because of injury, and I wanted him on the team I'm to manage.

"He's a great star who deserved to be named this year just as he deserved to be named to 10 previous teams." (After missing the first 65 Yankee games, Di Maggio returned to action in blazing style this week, banging four homers in his first three games driving across nine runs.)

"Lou came up to me the last series at New York and asked me how I felt about playing the game," Di Maggio said.

He pledged me to secrecy and we agreed that any announcement would come from him. I told him I appreciated the offer very much and I would gladly accept if I was able to play.

"I heard today that Lou has offered me the chance to play in the game. I am really delighted about playing in the game and am glad I've been afforded the opportunity to participate. "I'll do anything Lou tells me to."

Two Baseball 9's Can Tie In County League

Shelby and Butler get an opportunity to take over the Richland county league lead from the idle Mansfield Hawks this weekend as four games in the league are docketed.

The Hawks now pace the circuit with three victories and one defeat while Shelby and Butler have 2-1 records. Both see action this afternoon and then tomorrow they battle each other at Shelby.

Butler is host to Lexington today while Shelby plays T. and E. Tavern at Liberty park. The game at Butler is to start at 1:30 while out at Liberty park action commences an hour earlier. A victory for both Butler and Shelby would put them in a three-way tie for first place with tomorrow's game deciding the league leader.

The first half season is scheduled to end next Sunday with the second half starting July 17. Several postponed games remain in the first half.

At least three softball games will be played by local nines today and American Veterans Committee and Todd's Jewelry will each have a hand in two of them.

The two teams are to meet at 1:30 p. m. at Prospect park to open the program. AVC then goes against 164th Fighter Squadron in the second game of a double-header while Todd's journeys to Wooster for a 7:45 p. m. game against Wooster Lumber.

Todd's is to play the Delaware Indians at Prospect, Ohio, Monday afternoon. Todd's has won 26 and lost five.

Jack Kelly Wins Easily In Sculls

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England —(AP)— Jack Kelly of Philadelphia, a former bricklayer's son, won the diamond sculls yesterday by 20 lengths in the 110-year-old Henley regatta's first all-American final.

Kelly, whose father was barred from the event some 20 years ago because he was a laborer, whipped through the mile and 550 yards of the placid Thames river course in eight minutes, 12 seconds, for his easy triumph over Jack Trinsey, also of Philadelphia.

IVAN TOPS ZEKE

The headliner between Zeke Hatfield and Ivan Rasputin, a pair of bearded gents, went to the Russian Bear in two straight falls. Rasputin finished the match in 14 minutes with a back flip and pin.

In the opener, Great Mephisto relied on his pile-driver to take over Jack Vansky in 21 minutes.

TEE TIME

By Charley Stine

(News-Journal Sports Writer)

STINE

A gaping hole in Mansfield's golfing activities was filled during the past week with the establishment of tournaments in which everyone in the city can play. The events as set up provide opportunities to compete for men of every class, both amateur and professional, and also for women.

The women's tournament is something that has never been held here before and court turn out to be the most colorful of the lot. Both Possum Run and Westbrook have large women's leagues but the two have never had the opportunity to play together to decide a real champion.

Some of the women play really good golf and the finals of the tournament, if held on a Sunday afternoon, might prove quite a gallery attraction.

As for the class situation, the top three classes are sure to have full fields, but it may be the 100-and-over group that is overflowing. Plans are to give everybody a chance and if this group gets too big, a class of 110 and over may be added On the other hand if the 100-and-over does not draw, it will be dropped.

Red Dillon sounded the keynote when he chirped: "If none of the classes we have fit you, we'll make a class for you."

★

Additional notes on the city program: Entry blanks and posters for the first Amateur-Amateur best-ball of July 12 will be distributed to all three clubs the first of the week. Also to get the blanks and posters are all factories and clubs which sponsor leagues. . . . To avoid confusion, players need not submit their handicaps. . . . Placing of men in the four classes will be done by the club managers or pros who know the golfers best. . . . Summer golf will be played in all events. . . . Should players of different classes team up in the best-ball events, the team must play in the class of the better player. . . . A printed set of golf rules and course interpretations will be given each player at the beginning of the tournament. . . . Averages are to be kept in the best-balls so that by next year if a full program is set up the classification of everyone will be known. . . . Once averages are set up, tee entries can be accepted . . . Entry deadline for the first best-ball will be Wednesday, July 13.

We would like to toss an orchid to the Richland County Golf association for the junior tournament of last Wednesday The event was one of the most colorful we have seen and certainly should get better and bigger with each year.

The concentration of boys in a football game played before 10,000 persons is no greater than that exerted by the 25 young linksmen in their tournament. And many of them showed, that given a fair opportunity they can belt the ball as far and as straight as anyone else.

Many persons of late have said "Golf is dying among the younger players. There are no longer any good youngsters around."

The boys rose up last week and proved how wrong that is. All they need is a chance.

The regular Monday schedule in the Central Ohio junior baseball league will be played on Tuesday this week because of the holiday.

Madison is to invade Lucas, and Ashland travel to Lexington, while Mansfield AC is host to Bellville.

SKEET CHAMPS—Walter Wingert of Columbus and Mrs. Marsey Dean of Cleveland copped the state skeet titles at Columbus this past week. Wingert broke 100 straight targets to take the men's title while Mrs. Dean dropped only seven targets in scoring an impressive 93x100 for the women's crown. Wingert's straight 100 gave him the all-gauge title and a tie for the high overall title.

With the time nearing for the State Conservation commission to set hunting dates and bag limits for this fall, numerous district meetings are being held to sample the opinion of farmers and hunters. State officials are interested in knowing what the average man has to say about the game prospects and what he thinks about hunting regulations.

For this reason, Buck Rider, conservation commissioner, has asked that all who possibly can do so attend the county and district meetings before the Aug. 4 hearing of the commission.

By doing this, the sportsmen and farmers can have a voice in the setting up of regulations and won't be able to sit back as they often do and raise hob because the regulations don't happen to suit them.

Along this same line, the League of Ohio Sportsmen is issuing invitations to clubs interested in duck hunting to affiliate with the league. The clubs are also being invited to attend a special meeting to discuss the 1949 hunting dates for duck.

★

The State Conservation commission is meeting July 8 (next Friday) in a regular session, and at that time it will make recommendations to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service regarding waterfowl regulations affecting Ohio. Better get a few letters off to the group before Friday, fellows, and let 'em know what you think of the wildfowl outlook.

★

The Richland County Fox Hunters will have an "inc" after its name in the future, it was learned this week. Corporation officers as shown on papers filed with the secretary of state are Walter G. Wendland, Oliver M. Wendland, Oliver M. Beveridge and Harold Snyder. Agent is Emery T. Smith.

★

A new twist to easier means of obtaining fish came this past week when a wire service reported women in San Diego, Calif., were finding fish pouring from their water faucets.

It seems that an electirc 'screen' failed at a reservoir and fish popped into the water lines and on out the faucets.

"It isn't serious," one official declared," but I'd advise housewives to boil and strain their water for a few days!"

★

Fishing hasn't been quite so good in local waters lately but hot weather always plays hob with big catches. One interesting point to remember, however, is that many of the largest fish are taken during 'dog days' when the mercury threatens to spurt out the top of the thermometer.

The old saying of "fish 'em slow, fish 'em deep" really pays off for old lunkers at this time of the year.

There's more than honor waiting for the fishermen who take the biggest fish in this area, according to operators of Woodies Place in East Mansfield. Woodie has announced a fishing contest which started last Friday and runs through October 15.

The prize list is split up into five divisions, bass, crappie, catfish, bluegill and carp. Largest bass turned in during this period will win $10 for the catcher; largest catfish will be worth $5; crappie and bluegill prizes are $3 each; and the largest carp will net $2 for the fisherman.

The fish will be judged on a weight basis but no split shot will be allowed to be poured down the fish before weighing.

Anyone from this area is eligible but the fish must be caught in the inland fishing district.

The quail controversy landed in the limelight again this week as the Ohio Senate Conservation committee brought the measure out in a surprise move. The bill had been postponed two weeks ago, almost invariably an action which kills any pending measure.

Now the House-approved bill to place the quail on the game bird instead of song bird list, due mainly to the efforts of Lt. Gov. George D. Nye, is back in the running.

The act would protect quail for ten years, then would permit an open season. To me, the bill is sound in theory but in actual practice it will be one of the biggest flops in the history of the state — IF it passes. When any group of men are subject to pressure from a group as large as that composed of Ohio hunters, it's going to give in. And, when it gives in on the quail question, we're going to have the worst slaughter since the days of the market hunters.

Ohio Ranks High In Bag Of Wildlife

U. S. Agency Lists Game, Fur Records

According to a report reaching Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider from Daniel L. Leedy, in charge of the Cooperative Wildlife Research units of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, Ohio ranks high as a game and fur producing state throughout the nation.

Based on the most recent complete reports from the individual states, 1946, Ohio had a calculated kill of 4,606,000 rabbits ranking a close second to Missouri, among 24 states reporting. Following Ohio were Indiana, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Iowa, Kentucky and Michigan.

In the reported take of fox squirrels by 14 states, Indiana ranked first with 1,775,000 followed by Ohio with 1,505,000, Missouri with 1,203,000 and Michigan with 786,000.

Ohio ranked third in the kill of gray squirrels with 994,000. West Virginia had a kill of 1,625,000 and North Carolina lead with 2,000,000.

South Dakota, with a reported hunter kill of 3,550,132 pheasants and Nebraska, with an estimated kill of 2,000,000 far out-ranked any of the other 22 states reporting. In third place was Michigan with a kill of 904,367 and Ohio in fourth place with 868,000.

The figures on fur production in Ohio do not include the pelts shipped directly to out-of-state fur dealers by Ohio hunters and trappers. It is believed that at least 10 percent of the total Ohio fur catch is disposed in this manner.

On this basis the average annual take of fur animals in Ohio would be approximately one million pelts placing the state among the first half dozen states in fur production. In recent years, 1942-1947, the raw furs taken by Ohio hunters and trappers have had an annual value of about $2,000,000.

Ohio's common fur bearers are the same species that constitute the bulk of the furs produced in the United States. Louisiana produces far more fur animals than any other state. The six leading states are Louisiana in first place followed by Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin.

Club Picks Officials

Future competition in the Mansfield Casting club rested today in the hands of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Simmons following an election held by the group last Thursday night.

A record number of entries vied for the weekly title, after which club members elected Simmons as president and Mrs. Simmons as secretary-treasurer.

As a warm-up for a scheduled trip to Canada, G. E. Conant pulled down first-place honors in the senior class with a 94. G. E. Heineberger took second with a 92 and Ken Woodman placed third with 90. The three were team winners and Conant won the match in a shoot-off with the other two winners.

In the junior class, G. E. Heineberger jr. went back into his usual form and posted a flashy 91 to win a fishing line. Jerry Carnella took second honors with a 79, winning a stringer.

Simmons emphasized yesterday that the rings are left in the water at all times during the summer and anyone desiring to do so may practise for the Thursday competition.

Two new spinning outfits made an appearance at this week's matches. Mrs. Simmons reported. There are no restrictions on the tackle used in the tournaments.

Catfish Seen Becoming More Important To U. S. Fishermen

By TED KESTING

A lot of anglers don't think much of the catfish as a game species, but because of the polluted condition of many of our streams, we are going to see more and more of them on sporting tackle. It might be a good idea to learn where they live, what they eat, and how to identify the six or seven kinds found in American waters.

Lee Yeager, wildlife scientist and writer, reports that the cats are contained in three groups: (1) the channel cats, three species; (2) the bullheads three species; (3) the flathead, mud or river cat, one species.

Here are their principal characteristics:

BLUE OR GREAT FORKTAIL CAT: bluish above, belly whitish, no spots; anal fin 30-35 rays; largest of the catfishes, 10 to 40 pounds. May occur in brackish water along the Gulf coast and in Florida.

CHANNEL CAT: tail forked, body highly streamlined with small black spots; anal fin 24-29 rays; bluish olive above, belly whitish; weigh usually 2 or 3 pounds. The Great Lakes catfish found in northern waters is very similar in form to the channel cat.

WHITE CAT: tail forked; pale bluish above, belly silvery; anal fin 19-21 rays; seldom exceeds 5 pounds. Occurs only in or near brackish waters along Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

Yellow bull head: tail slightly rounded, whiskers on lower jaw are whitish; anal fin 23-27 rays; often plump; weight seldom over 4 pounds.

BROWN BULLHEAD: tail nearly square; whiskers on lower jaw grayish to black; anal fin 17 - 24 rays; yellowish-brown, mottled with dark green; weight seldom over 3 pounds.

BLACK BULLHEAD: tail nearly square; whiskers on lower jaw dark gray to black; anal fin 17 - 24 rays; fins have jet-black membranes; greenish - brown to black above, belly lighter; weight seldom over 3 pounds.

BIRD DOG—Patty, a cocker spaniel, keeps a watchful eye on the newly-hatched pheasants at the state game farm in Wapato, Wash., where her master, Dale Chinn, is superintendent. The world could well take a lesson from the way the young birds are treating their 'foster-mother.'

Know Your Fish

Many Sporting Anglers Seek Walleyes

In spring, the fisherman's fancy turns to walleyes, especially those who appreciate excellent eating along with a highly enjoyable sport. While not on the spectacular side, the walleye is a solid denizen of the deep with sufficient attractions to boast a tremendous following among sporting anglers.

Probably because of its numerous needle-like teeth, the walleye is at times erroneously called a pike. This is a definite misnomer for the walleye belongs to the perch family and not the pike.

Especially in lakes, walleyes are schooling fish and once they are located, fine sport and finer eating are the rewards of a successful search.

NAMES . . . The walleye is blessed — or cursed — with an abundance of aliases, most of them colorfully descriptive. In Canada, especially the French - tinted areas, it is called dore—meaning "golden fish." In this country, most of its names inaccurately connect the walleye with the pike family, while some align it with the salmon group.

The most common are: blue pike, dory, glasseye, marble-eye, gray pike, green pike, yellow pike, jack, jackfish jack salmon, sauger, susquehanna salmon, walleye perch, walleye pickerel, walleye pike, white-eye, yellow pickerel and yellow pike perch.

WALLEYE
Stizostedion vitreum

CHARACTERISTICS . . While varying water conditions will affect the coloration of the walleye, generally it is dark olive mottled with yellow, and the blending of the two forms indistinct oblique bars on the back. The belly and lower fins tend to be pink while a characteristic black blotch usually is distinct on the membrane of the dorsal spines.

The walleye is easily distinguished from the pickerel, pike or muskellunge because it has both a front and rear dorsal while the members of the pike family have but one dorsal fin.

The walleye is a heavy nocturnal feeder, and as night approaches it will leave the deeper holes to feed around the shallows, particularly sand or gravel bars and the flats below dams or rapids.

Walleyes prefer moderately deep, clear, flowing waters with rock, gravel or sandy bottoms. Usually the best fishing will be found in those deeper holes where the swifter currents bring in food, or under falls and below rapids, as well as a long reefs, ledges or along rocky shorelines.

SIZE . . . The world's record walleye was taken by Patrick E. Noon, using rod and reel, at Fort Erie, Ontario, Canada, on May 26, 1943, and weighed 22 pounds, 4 ounces. However the average weight will approximate 2 to 5 pounds.

FOODS . . . Nearly anything that moves or flashes will attract the walleye, thus any small aquatic animal such as minnows of all kinds, frogs, crawfish, worms, etc., fall prey to these busy jaws.

It may take considerable scouting around to locate "old marble eye"—but, once you find the spot which rates the walleye's favor for that particular day, you have uncovered a bonanza.

Wins Award For Sunfish

Of the Mansfielders who have used their vacations to catch up on some good fishing, at least one walked away with honors in fishing contests.

Frank Castor of 320 Orange street won first prize in a contest at Horseshoe Lake resort, MacGregor, Minn., for landing a sunfish which weighed in at one pound and six ounces.

The owenrs of the resort forwarded the information, but neglected to name the prize Castor won.

Ducks Seen In Far North

From a key-man stationed on "a barren, lifeless land," within 800 miles of the North Pole, Ducks Unlimited, international organization of sportsmen - conservationists, has received its "farthest north" report.

The key-man is A. Innes-Taylor, a meteorologist stationed at a lonely weather observation post on Isachsen Land, some 700 miles north of Cambridge Bay, in the Arctic ocean.

The observer reported Lesser Canada Geese and Black Brant nesting in small numbers, and observed three pairs of the geese closely. They had six young each. Both the geese and brant arrived June 6, 1948, and departed August 23.

"For both," he writes, "it was a race against time to have their young, teach them to fly, and have them strong enough for the flight south. The goslings could just stagger into the air when everything froze up. In the area observed, there is land-fast ice, and only a little open water around the edge of the shore. This is true of most of Isachsen."

State's Hunters Top '47 Game Bags In Past Year

Ohio hunters for the state as a whole bagged more small game during the 1948 season than in 1947 but there were about 90,000 more hunters in the field in 1948 which partially explains the extra baked pheasants and fried rabbit.

Figures just released by Eugene Dustman, Leader of the Ohio Wildlife Research Unit at Ohio State University, show that hunters killed 3,843,000 rabbits in 1948 compared to 3,068,000 in 1947, an increase of 25.3 per cent. For pheasant, the increase in 1948 over 592,000 compared to 707,000 in 1948.

For fox squirrel the recent game kill survey figures show that hunters killed 1,043,000 in 1947 and 1,155,000 in 1948, an increase of 10.7 per cent. The increase for the gray squirrel kill in 1948 was .8 per cent and for muskrat, 16.8 per cent.

The greatest increase was noted in the take of raccoon amounting to 59.4 per cent with a kill of 574,000 in 1948 compared to 360,000 in 1947.

Of the hunters returning questionnaires in the survey who reported they bagged at least one pheasant last year, 39 per cent bagged one; 26 per cent bagged two; 11 per cent took three; another 11 per cent bagged four; 4 per cent bagged five; another 4 per cent bagged six; and 5 per cent bagged seven or more pheasants.

The maximum number reported taken by any one hunter was 20. Eighty-seven percent of the successful pheasant hunters bagged from one to five.

For rabbits, the kill per hunter in 1948 varied from 1 to 72. Of those reporting bagging at least one, 13 per cent bagged one, 14 per cent took two; 11 per cent bagged three; 12 per cent, four; 7 per cent, five; and 25 per cent nine or more. Seventy-five percent of the successful rabbit hunters bagged from one to eight rabbits.

Sturgeon Gives Pair a Free Ride

CAMPBELLFORD, Ont. — A 49-pound sturgeon towed a boat in the Trent river, giving two United States fishermen a 45-minute ride late Friday.

Hooked by Edward Brown of Alliance, O., with a 15-pound test line, the fish battled for more than an hour before Brown landed it with the aid of Donald Phillips, also of Alliance. The sturgeon measured four feet 9½ inches.

Federal Checks Hit $300,000

'Security' Benefits Mounting

5-County Payments Total $600,000

Approximately $300,000 has been paid to Richland county residents in old age benefits and survivors insurance during the past year, according to Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Social Security office in Mansfield.

Blonston estimated that half of the $600,000 paid out in benefits in the five-county area, consisting of Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox and Morrow counties, went to Richland county residents.

Total Social Security payments in Ohio, under old age and survivors' insurance, amounted to $36,354,000. In addition, $43,018,806 was received by the state under the various grant-in-aid programs, bringing the total of federal payments in the state, under the Federal Security agency's program, to just under 80 million dollars.

Unemployed persons over 65 were advised by Blonston, to check with the Social Security office in the Richland Trust building before filing for unemployment insurance to determine the program under which they can receive the most in benefits.

Blonston pointed out that unemployed persons over 65 can collect benefits for other dependents over 65 in addition to unemployment compensation.

The bow and arrow was used by ancient men on every continent except Australia.

Reorganize Government, Women Urge

Lady Legislators OK Hoover Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Women members of Congress rate the Hoover plan for government reorganization as the No. 1 legislative must.

The Associated Press asked the nine lady legislators what they considered the two or three most important legislative matters presented to the 81st Congress. Six of them, three from each party, replied.

The Hoover commission's proposals for government economy and efficiency were given top ranking by three women — Republican Reps. Frances Bolton of Ohio and Katherine St. George of New York and Democratic Representative Reva Bosone of Utah.

No other legislative proposal got more than one first - place vote.

The No. 2 rating was won by housing legislation with one first place and three second places. Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas (D-Calif) put housing first.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) said the biggest problem is how to cut down military appropriations without endangering national defense. Rep. Chase Going Woodhouse (D-Conn) gave top importance to confirming the Atlantic Charter and supporting the Atlantic Pact.

Here are high points of the statements made by the women legislators:

Senator Smith—"The $64 question is how much can we cut military appropriations without jeopardizing national defense.'

PROVEN ITS VALUE

Mrs. Woodhouse — "First on the 'must list' is confirmation of the Atlantic Charter and its financial implementation. The Marshall Plan has proven its value as an effective tool of economic recovery in Europe and as a bulwark against the threatened onrush of communism.

"Second, housing legislation is necessary for decent living. It will be effective in creating employment and economic stability."

Mrs. Bolton — "Recommendations of the Hoover commission relate to business-like economies which should be put into effect. If $1,500,000,000 can be saved annually through changing the accounting system in national defense activities alone, certainly several more billions can be saved by applying similar methods in all departments."

Mrs. Bosone—"With so many demands on the budget, I think the Hoover plan should be put into operation as soon as possible."

"I also feel that Congress should face the issue which the Taft-Hartley Act raised. Legislation should be passed in this session which is not a Red flag in the face of either labor or management.

"Some type of health insurance should be provided for the American people."

Mrs. St. George — "Favorable action on the Hoover commission plan is one of the most progressive steps this Congress can take. I believe the recommendations contained in the commission reports would remove the influence of pressure groups from government.

FAVORS GOOD HOUSING

"I want to see good housing legislation. I am not wholly in favor of the administration's housing measure. However, I do favor the slum-clearance clause.

Aviation Bug Bit Brissell During Visit To City Airport

By BOB SCHWEITZ

Charles H. Brissell, 471 Sloane avenue, went out to Municipal airport one day in 1945" just to look around." Fifteen minutes later he was aloft with Airport Manager A. Clayton Tschantz and taking his first flying lesson.

When he got back to Westinghouse where he works with Blaine Burkholder, Springmill, he told Burkholder about it. They both decided to learn to fly. They bought a two-passenger Ercoupe and now each has about 200 flying hours.

They have flown all the way to Key West, Fla. in their plane. Last year they flew to St. Paul, Minn. They ascended to 10,200 feet in their light plane to clear the clouds over the Smoky mountains on one trip.

Brissell and Burkholder won a trophy in the efficiency race at the airport last year for planes in the Ercoupe class. Their average efficiency rating was 99.9 per cent. Gas, distance and speed are factors in rating efficiency.

On their Key West flight they took it easy and stopped every night in a different place. When they got hungry they'd come down out of the clouds for a meal. Then they'd find a hotel and spend the night. The pair made stops in Augusta, and Atlanta, Ga., Jacksonville and Miami, Fla.

Though they do not plan to enter the efficiency races to be held here in August this year they are going to make a tour as soon as they can complete arrangements.

Reds Reveal 'Hard Times' In America

Economists Follow Trend

MOSCOW — (AP) — Soviet economists are reporting through the press to the Russian people that a major depression is on in the United States.

The press also has seized upon reports printed in the New York Daily Worker, a leading organ of the communists in America, reprinting from it headlines such as these:

"Two out of three unemployed"

"Homeless family seeks shelter in subway"

There is a keen interest in the prospect of an American slump. Unemployment figures, trade statistics, and Wall Street fluctuations are studied closely.

The most complete review of the situation as seen by economist A. Manukyan appeared recently in the New Times.

He charted a 10 per cent decline in American industry from October through April and said:

"The present decline has an uninterrupted and extremely sharp character."

(The federal reserve adjusted index of industrial production declined 8.2 per cent from October to April. October was the post-war peak. April, 1949, compared with a year ago, was 4.8 per cent lower.)

Manukyan said that exports are falling off rapidly from month to month as compared with last year, and bankruptcies are on the increase.

(The Department of Commerce index of exports of United States merchandise showed an increase of 72 per cent in March, 1949, from a year ago. March is the latest figure.)

How long does the Soviet expert say the economic crisis will last? The present recession is not the same as the slump in 1920-21, he reported. He said America quickly rose from that slump because of a post - war reconstruction boom, but this time it is different. There have already been more than three years of peacetime economic activity, capital investment and housing construction. The result, is, he contended, that these sources of potential recovery from the present crisis are missing.

Therefore, Manukyan predicted, the crisis will be "deep and drawn out."

However, he qualified this. He said the influence of huge armament expenditure should be taken into consideration. The heavy expenditure and resultant increase in employment might retard the depression. But because of this expenditure, in the end the crisis would be deeper, he said.

Manukyan predicted the American people would fight to prevent having all the burden of the depression heaped on the shoulders of the working class.

Probe Sulfur Burn On Fruit

VANCOUVER, Canada — (AP) — Radioactive sulfur tracers and a Geiger counter are used in the University of California to learn how sulfur burns citrus fruits This knowledge may be useful to make safe such popular insecticides as sulfur dust and lime-sulfur sprays.

The methods were reported at the annual meeting of the Pacific Division of the American Association of the Advancement of Science. The report was based on work done by Dr. F M. Turrell and Marcella Chervenak of the College of Agriculture's Citrus Experiment Station, Riverside.

It appears that when there are not enough metals present in the peel sap to tie up the sulfate formed from the sulfur dust, the sulfate becomes sulfuric acid which is responsible for the burn

S. tennis star, after she had been crowned Summer Queen at the Inter-Varsity Vacation dance at Chelsea Town Hall, England. Recently defeated in the matches at Wimbledon, Gussie prompted much raising of English eyebrows when she played with lace-trimmed panties under her tennis costume. (International)

Venereal Disease Pamphlets To Be Distributed In County

Several thousand pamphlets designed to inform Mansfielders about venereal disease will be distributed by the Mansfield-Richland County Board of Health during the next two months.

Distribution of these pamphlets and several hundred posters is a part of the health department's campaign on venereal disease which is being conducted throughout the state during July and August.

Some of the pamphlets are designed for distribution at drug stores, hotels, beauty shops, and other places where people gather.

They are written in an easily understood style, and contain only about 100 words.

More complete literature on venereal disease is available at the health department in the city building, Health Commissioner Harry Wain said.

A two-month campaign on venereal disease was begun this week under the direction of the Ohio Department of Health.

The campaign seeks to attack venereal disease, particularly syphilis, as a communicable disease of widespread proportions which strikes at all segments of the population.

Medical and health authorities list syphilis as primarily a social and not a medical problem. It can be cured, but virtually everyone in the nation, state, city, community and home must join in the fight, Dr. Wain said.

Beggar Given Horde of Gems

CAIRO — (AP) — A ragged beggar who pleads for alms in the shadow of the Pyramids had a fortune in stolen jewels. But he didn't know it. Police for months had been hunting $80,000 in gems taken last summer from Mrs Nahas Pasha, wife of the Wafdist Party leader.

Finally they caught the thieves. After holding out until the police fed them a chicken dinner, they admitted they had given many of the jewels to a beggar named Bahluk. The jewels were wrapped in a package and the beggar didn't know what they were, they said. He had been instructed to hide them.

After questioning, Bahluk was released. "I just never got around to looking inside that cloth," he admitted ruefully.

Appointments For Men Lag At Tuesday Cancer Clinic

Mansfield women are more concerned than men about their health, appointments for the Mansfield Cancer Detection Clinic indicate.

There are only 12 appointments made for Men's night at the clinic next Tuesday, Dr. W. E. Wygant, clinic director, said. The clinic is held at 7 p. m. at General hospital.

However, the Women's clinic schedule is full to the last week of July, the director said.

There are eight openings for appointments at next Tuesday's clinic. Appointments may be made by calling 2291-6.

Cancer is not a women's disease. It strikes both sexes nearly equally, Health Commissioner Harry Wain said.

N. Y. Reveals Murder Toll

NEW YORK —(AP)— The New York Police department report for 1948 listed 315 cases of murder and manslaughter for the year, of which 269 were "disposed of."

All in all, the report showed a 4 per cent increase in arrests despite decreases of 13 per cent in felony complaints, 9 per cent in misdemeanor complaints and 5 per cent in juvenile delinquency cases.

There were 2,847 cases of felonious assault, 2,733 burglaries and 5,121 grand larceny cases. More than half were disposed of.

Forgery Suspect Held

Elmer Earick, 29, of 132 Hedges street, placed under secret indictment by the January session of the grand jury, was returned to Mansfield yesterday to face charges of issuing a forged check.

He was arrested in Marion for local authorities Friday and is being held in city jail.

The warrant signed by Raymond H. Pierce, manager of the Southern hotel, charged the forged check was passed in August, 1948.

The warrant was issued in February, 1949. It charged Earick had forged a check for $59.50 payable to himself over the signature of "Suzzie Janis."

Authorities said Earick escaped from a Florida chain gang a short time before he was arrested in Marion.

Surgery Aids Child's Hopes

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Betty, who is 8, hopes to start to school for the first time in Carey, O., next fall, thanks to the skill of a Columbus surgeon.

Betty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Conley of Carey, was born with her bladder outside her body.

The surgeon performed the first of two operations June 23 to correct the situation. Reports from White Cross hospital were that the operation was successful.

Betty, looking forward to entering school, roller skating, bicycle riding and other activities previously denied her, smiled as she rested awaiting the second operation soon.

Learning to Be Chorus Girl Takes Perseverence and Hard Work

By JOAN SCHWEITZ

Learning to be a chorus girl takes long practice, hard work and usually some "lucky breaks" for dancers who get into the big time. But these obstacles don't discourage eight-year-old Janice Benjamin, who hopes to climb the ladder to stardom. In pursuit of her goal, she is now appearing at the Greystone with three other girls, giving three shows a night.

Janice is a tall, slim, dark-haired girl with high cheekbones and delicately pretty features. She doesn't look a day older than her 18 years.

Janice has been dancing every since she was three years old. Her father was a dancer and her grandfather played nearly every town in the country with a comedy act. So, Janice is the third generation of the Benjamin family to go into "show business." She never thought of doing anything else, she declared during an interview.

Grandfather Benjamin, who played the Ringside about 20 years ago, here in Mansfield, sat in the audience Thursday night at the Greystone and watched Janice strut her stuff.

"I can't show her a thing," he stated. "She knows all the tricks without anyone showing her." He said that Janice has received nothing but A's in her high school in Columbus.

Janice said that she has no trouble with wolves. Everyone is very nice to her. The girls are a team and they all live with their parents in or near Columbus. Their agent comes to Mansfield after their last show, 1:30 a. m. and drives them home. Then he brings them back in time for their first show, 9:30 p. m.

The Greystone is the first night club Janice has ever played. Up to now she has been dancing at private parties and club meetings. During the day (she sleeps until twelve when she does a late show like this Mansfield appearance) she helps out her dancing teacher, Marie Ott, in her Columbus school. She has taught classes and helped work out some of the routines that the chorus uses.

Each of the four girls has at least one solo specialty. They all have big ambitions in show business and they all sound "professional" when they talk about their costumes and routines.

Eddie Black, master of ceremonies and manager of the Greystone, says they're all likable girls and very well trained. He declared that their agent watches over them like a father.

Janice and the others are all very serious about show business.

"It's exciting but it sure is hard work," she said.

The girls change their act for every show and climb into a new set of costumes. By 1:30 a. m. they're all dead tired and it's hard work to keep on smiling, they admitted.

Happenings In Hollywood

Plays Top Screen Roles, Can't Stick

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Louis Calhern, an actor who successfully alternates between stage and screen roles, nonetheless thinks Hollywood has some misgivings about him.

"I've had parts in pictures which would have made anyone else a star," he said, "but the studios always let me go back to Broadway."

Actually, Calhern likes the arrangement, does his best to maintain a balance between films and plays. His home is in New York. Near the end of a screen assignment he automatically starts thinking in terms of the stage.

"Haven't got a good play in your pocket, have you?" he inquired.

Calhern believes his two best roles in Hollywood so far were in "Arch of Triumph" and "The Red Pony." But even these didn't result in his permanent residence here.

" 'Arch' was a flop, and 'red Pony' didn't do so well, either. But 'Arch' was a lot of fun, and I really was disappointed about 'Pony.' I thought that was a fine story."

The last time Calhern returned to New York with nothing in view he wound up in a revival. Molnar's "The Play's The Thing." This proved to be one of the outstanding successes of the Broadway season.

Calhern came west some months ago for MGM's "The Red Danube." He shaved off his moustache to play a Russian general. This time Metro kept him around for another, "Nancy Goes To Rio," with Jane Powell and Ann Southern. Calhern was told to let his moustache grow. Then came retakes on "Danube." He shaved it off. Now back on "Nancy" again, he had his upper lip dressed each morning by a makeup man.

In "Nancy" Calhern plays Jane's grandfather, a former actor. For the first time in 30 years he has to do a dance routine. He's 54 years old.

"Nobody seems to know that I started in burlesque, at 17. Of course, the orchestra played very loud when I sang, and a capable partner covered up my bad dancing."

The actor pulled a ligament in one leg with all this rug-cutting the other day, but he gets his dancing lesson daily just the same, "from a very patient coach."

His greatest shock, he related, came last season, when he attended the theater. Two men seated behind him were discussing a play.

"What we need," said one, "is a young Louis Calhern."

Performs Dual Role As Artists' Model

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Things have to be done in a big way in Hollywood, and so Claudette Colbert is having her portrait painted by two artists simultaneously.

She poses between scenes of "Three Came Home" at 20th Century-Fox for "Dusty" Anderson, wife of director Jean Negulesco, and for Sessue Hayakawa, the Japanese actor, who has an important role in the film.

Miss Anderson has had many exhibits of her work. Hayakawa, who is painting Miss Colbert on silk, supplemented his income with his painting during the 17 years he spent in France after leaving the silent screen.

Cameron Tired of Getting Beaten Up

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — "Half My Life," says Rod Cameron, "is spent in getting knocked down. The other half I spend knocking somebody else down. When a director calls 'action' I come out fighting instead of acting."

In "Brimstone" at Republic the tall, lanky Cameron brawled with two other huskies, got pitched over a cliff. Later in the same film he engaged in a running gunfight while riding a wild horse, and got tossed off a balcony after having a table and two chairs broken over his head. Even with studio furniture, which shatters easily, this is rugged, says the six-foot-four, 180-pound Cameron.

George Montgomery beat him up in "Belle Starr's Daughter." In "Strike It Rich" he was battered and dumped into pools of oil and water. In "Stampede" he fought four men at once. "The Plunderers" and "Panhandle" provided additional punishment. All these were filmed in 14 months, and Cameron began to wonder if he'd ever get a chance to heal completely.

"I don't suppose Charles Boyer ever lifts a hand except to comb his hair or embrace a pretty girl," said Rod. "But by the time I reach the scene where I get my arms around the leading lady, I'm usually too tired to care."

'Bogey' Values His Yacht At $75,000

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Producer Colin Miller persuaded Humphrey Bogart to let him use the actor's miniature replica of the Bogart yacht, Santana, for atmosphere in David Niven's office in "A Kiss For Corliss." But Bogart agreed only on condition that Miller insure the model for $75,000.

"Wait a minute, Bogey," Miller protested. "You can buy a real yacht for that kind of money."

"Sure," agreed Bogart. "Maybe you can even buy the Santana for $75,000. But I made that miniature myself — and you can't buy that!"

Westerns Prove To Be Filipino Hits

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Favored film fare among Filipinos, says Dr. Ciriaco A. Santiago, is the western, either American or Philippine style.

A Philippine western, he explained, is any outdoor adventure picture. Santiago, president of Premier Productions, incorporated, is a leading Manila producer. He is here studying methods of filming color pictures with black-and-white equipment.

On the set of "The Fighting Plainsman," where such a system is used, Santiago and producer Nat Hole discussed the possibility of collaborating on a picture in the Philippines. American and Filipino casts would make two versions, one in English and the other in Tagalog.

Santiago plans a $55,000 color film processing plant in Manila. He is accompanied on his inspection trip by his ace cinematographer, Ricardo Marcelino.

Studio Mail Clerk Gets Acting Chore

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Rose Marie Couch, a mail clerk at Universal - International studios, is the latest unknown to get an acting role. Producer Paul Short liked her test for a role with Audie Murphy in "The Kid From Texas."

Miss Couch, a redhead, is the great granddaughter of Mexico's General Don Luis Terrazas, once reputedly one of that country's 10 wealthiest men before Pancho Villa divested him of most of his holdings. Rose Marie says she'd like to earn enough money to improve the 40,000 acres of land in Chihuahua state which she inherited.

Chippewa Lake Books Name Band For 4th

Skitch Henderson, his piano and his orchestra come to the Starlight ballroom at Chippewa Lake park tomorrow for a one-night stand. Henderson — one-time pianist with such famous bands as Glen Gray, Tommy Dorsey, Skinnay Ennis and Artis Shaw — has played hotels, theatres, radio and motion pictures.

Henderson divides his time between his regular appearances on Bing Crosby's air show, recording dates and dance dates.

Lowry Clark and his orchestra will share the band-stand with Henderson.

A fire-works display Monday night will close the big 4th of July celebration at Chippewa Lake Park.

Casa Loma Orchestra Will Play Four Shows At Madison

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma orchestra will present four different stage shows at the Madison theater Thursday, July 7, the Madison management announced today.

Featured in the personal appearance of the noted band will be "Fats" Daniels, Morgan Miller and Julie O'Brien. "Fats", a clarinet and vocal specialist, at one time had his own band but joined the Casa Loma orchestra in April.

Miller is one of the most popular of vocalists, while Miss O'Brien is a veteran of the musical world, having served with several of the nation's better known musical groups. She is a Canadian girl and an all-around athlete.

The Casa Loma orchestra considers its versatility as its chief appeal, swinging from romantic ballads to wild bounce tunes with little or no warning.

The orchestra will appear at 2:45, 5:15, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

On the screen will be the mystery-thriller, "The Checkered Coat," starring Tom Conway, Noreen Nash and Hurd Hatfield.

14 Indicted By Crawford Grand Jury

Three-Day Session Ends

BUCYRUS—Crawford county's grand jury concluded its three-day session here yesterday by returning 19 indictments against 14 persons. Four cases were ignored and eight of the indictments were secret, Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon reported.

Ernest O. Stein, 31, of Galion, was indicted on five counts including burglary of a tool shed, three separate counts of burglary of an uninhabited dwelling house and grand larceny. Stein has confessed thefts from several homes and buildings in the Galion area, the prosecutor stated.

Others indicted include: John and Maude Willis of Richwood, obtaining property by false pretenses; Joseph A. Urban of near Galion, malicious destruction of property, Emery Fink, Galion, grand larceny, Olga Kyryl, 32, Mansfield, operating an automobile without a driver's license; Richard Brentlinger, 35, Galion, burglary of a building, and John Eldred, Galion, assault and battery.

Cases ignored by the jury included. Charles Wagner, 20, Galion, John Heitz, 38, Mansfield, non-support; Harold Robnolte, Galion, and Walter Tobin, Bucyrus, conversion.

The jury recommended that the ceiling of the sheriff's office be repaired immediately and that the sheriff be given another cruiser equipped with two-way radio. A second cruiser was recommended by a previous grand jury.

Prosecutor Scanlon said the prisoners probably would be arraigned next week.

Two Fires Result In Little Loss

Only slight damage resulted from two fires extinguished by the fire department yesterday. At 3:15 p. m. firemen from No. 3 station were called to the home of Frank Knollin of 24 Chilton avenue, where the motor on a washing machine caught fire.

Then at 10 55 p. m. Central station put out a fire in a car owned by James Tillman of 361 West Fifth street. A short in wiring caused the fire at Adams street and East Fourth street.

DONATE BLOOD—

"Mansfield reformatory inmates donated 194 pints of blood to the Columbus blood bank, when a Red Cross bloodmobile paid a one-day visit to the reformatory Friday," according to Mrs. Stuart M Weaver, of the Mansfield Red Cross chapter. The Columbus Red Cross chapter asked for volunteer donors to build up the supply in anticipation of accidents expected over the holiday week end. "The bloodmobile had 200 more donors than they could use at the reformatory," Mrs. Weaver said.

Car Outlook Brightens

ROME — (AP) — Italy's automobile industry will be back to normal before the end of the year, the National Association of Automobile Makers (ANFIAA) announced.

It will be possible by then to enter a car dealer's display room, pay for your car and get it right away. Now it takes some six months to get a new car. The present situation is blamed mainly on 90 days of strikes and labor agitation in the main Italian industries in the first four months of this year, ANFIAA said.

Production which has slowed down 30 percent, is now quickly speeding up and will reach normal in a few months While all European automobile makers are producing mainly for export, the Italian industry keeps a good share of its production for the internal market ANFIAA said in France only 46 5 per cent of cars registered last year were new, (in England the figure was 33 9 per cent) and in Italy 74.1 per cent.

Until a few weeks ago, black market on new cars flourished. A new car directly from the factory could be sold at a good profit to ready customers. Price mark ups were sometimes as high as 30 per cent over regular dealer price lists ANFAIA took strong steps to stop the practice

FIGHTING "FOREST FIRE"—Full-scale demonstration of forest service fire fighting by parachute gets under way near the White House (upper right) in central Washington as two smoke jumpers settle toward earth after leap from plane near the Washington monument. Air Reservists Form New Units

Mansfield's 321st Bomb group (light) already is organized into new units following its recent deactivation, Maj. James R. McConnell, group commander, said yesterday.

The new Air Reserve program which went into effect July 1 is comparable to the present program of the Air National Guard. Activities will be concentrated in 23 Air Force Reserve training centers throughout the country with a unit in Cleveland serving 55 Ohio counties.

The 321st had been stationed at Municipal airport since June, 1947. Its discontinuance was in accordance with a recently announced air force policy to suspend satellite base operations.

About 700 airmen are already assigned from the Mansfield area to new units. There is a need for 300 more men, McConnell said.

First drills for the newly-organized units are to be held in a month Each unit will devote one week end each month to training.

Participating members will receive regular pay in accordance with their rank. For the first time in the Reserve program this will include flying pay for both officers and airmen on flying status.

Most of the former members of the 321st Bomb group have been assigned to positions in the units that will train in Cleveland Maj McConnel will command the 69th Troop Carrier squadron

Airmen interested in the program can contact McConnell or the 2240th Air Force Reserve training center at the Cleveland Municipal airport.

Reveal Uranium Ore Deposit Find

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo — (AP)—A new discovery of vanadium and uranium bearing ore has been made near Rico, Colo., Blair Burwell, head of the Minerals Engineering company, said yesterday.

Burwell said the new deposit was found by Louis and John Dunning, long-time carnotite miners of western Colorado. It is located in Barlow gulch in the Entrada Strata and on the opposite side of the mountain from the famed Hermosa creek mines.

Farm Population Up 336,000 Over 1947

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The nation's farm population totaled 27,776,000 in 1948, up 336,000 over the previous year, the agriculture department said Saturday. This marked a continuing gain over the low of 25,190.000 in 1946, but still was far short of the 1940 pre-war total of 30,269 000

Curb Travel By Girl Spy

NEW YORK —(AP)— Overseas airlines and other travel outlets were advised Saturday that Judith Coplon's passport has been lifted.

Airlines officials at first interpreted this as an alert to prevent her from fleeing from the United States. But Lincoln White, State department press officer, said in Washington that passports of persons convicted of a crime always are taken up.

International travel firms are notified of the lifting as a matter of course

Miss Coplon was convicted Thursday of spying for Russia. The 28-year-old brunette reportedly is spending the week-end with friends near her mother's Brooklyn home, resting after her 10-week turbulent trial in Washington and preparing for a second trial scheduled to begin here July 11

The tiny one-time Justice department analyst was tired and pale on her arrival by plane from Washington. She asked newsmen, the only persons to meet her, not to disturb her over the week-end

The Justice department said it had issued no orders for a special Coplon watch

PRINCESS OVERWORKED

LONDON — (AP) — The Sunday Pictorial complained last night that her public demands too much of Princess Elizabeth and is keeping her away from Baby Prince Charlie.

Girl-Slayer Convicted

Scott Gets 99 Years In Prison

ROANOKE, Va. — (AP)—A Hustings court jury late yesterday found Lee (Buddy) Scott, 16, guilty of first degree murder in the church slaying of Dana Marie Marie Weaver and fixed his punishment at 99 years imprisonment.

The young high school athlete heard the verdict calmly. Dana Marie, his classmate, was also 16.

It took the jury exactly two hours and 15 minutes of deliberation to reach a verdict. The foreman, E. T. Petticrew, indicated earlier the jury was considering a first degree conviction when it asked Judge Dirk A. Kuyk whether life imprisonment would mean that Scott would be pardoned or paroled.

The verdict caused barely a ripple in the closed courtroom, where witnesses and public officials had heard Scott branded as "an unusual, cruel killer" by the state. This character, said Commonwealth's Attorney C. E. Cuddy, belied his outward spotless reputation.

Cuddy claimed that Scott tried to silence the girl after making immoral advances that night out of harmony with his reputation as an Eagle scout, a singer in the choir of Christ Episcopal church and a youth leader.

Christmas Tree Adds Cool Touch

MADISON, Wis.—(AP)—A brightly decorated Christmas tree in the house—Mrs. A. L. Lehr says—"does have a cooling effect in July." It all started when her children, Ronnie, 3, and Bobbie, 5, objected to taking down the tree last January.

"The weeks passed, and after a while, I just decided to see how long it would last. It still hasn't shed its needles, although this week's spell of 90 degree heat made it somewhat brown."

Mrs. Lehr voiced one fear. "Will it spoil our Christmas next December?"

Claims Oslo 'Soaped Up'

OSLO —(AP)— Dr. Eric Mann, former porfessor in a Los Angeles university and an expert on European affairs, declares: "Soap is one of the items which are plentiful here. No soap should be sent as gift from the United States. Send something else," he says, "but no soap."

Dr. Mann is in Oslo to discuss the establishment of university courses for Americans in the Oslo University. He has been couducting a one-man soap for-children campaign for the last few years in the United States which has supplied 650,000 pounds of soap to needy institutions all over Europe.

"France, Sweden, Luxembourg Belgium, Holland—almost all European countries have now all the soap they need—mostly through home production," the doctors said. "Certainly Americans shall continue to help where help is needed. Therefore let us send linen, bed sheets, pillow cases. There is, for instance, not one single incubator in Oslo. Maybe some Americans will get one for the Rikshospitalte, Barneavdelingen, Oslo."

Dr. Mann says the recovery in Norway after the war is marked, but still incomplete as Norway "has suffered unbelievably at the hands of the German invaders who has destroyed a large part of Norway's national wealth."

Second Week Opens At Hidden Hollow

Eighty-four youngsters completed the first week of the summer season at Hidden Hollow camp yesterday, and others moved in to take their places today.

Over 400 boys and girls are registered for the summer program of camping. The camp can accommodate 94 youngsters each week. A few more registrations can still be taken.

These boys and girls, eight and up, have opportunity to swim daily and play such games as softball, tennis, and badminton. Riding, hiking, and dramatics are all offered under the supervision of competent counselors.

In the evening there is a campfire, and a period for songs and stories.

A special day is planned each week. Last week it was Texas Branding day, with all campers wearing cowboy hats and following the theme of the days of Pecos Bill.

The campers this year have the advantage of a new chapel, donated by the 40 et 8 club, and a new handicraft building, donated by the B'nai Brith.

Hidden Hollow comp is sponsored by the Friendly House.

The camp directors are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gimbel, also directors of Friendly House.

Socialism Brings Disillusionment

AN ARTICLE in the Atlantic Monthly observes that socialism has brought a good deal of disillusionment to Britain. The coal mines are an especially apt example. Absenteeism is as frequent and disputes as great as under private management. The slight increase in output per man-shift is attributed to progress that has been made in copying American production methods, rather than any increase in worker morale.

The article goes on to say, "Nationalization, to the ordinary miner down in the pit, has always meant that the industry would become his own. Now the miners claim it is not nearly the same thing to discover it is the nation's industry. In fact, they claim that the old private owner was always present to be conferred with—he was not the helpless agent of a remote and soulless board in London."

Can anyone believe that American coal miners would have made such remarkable progress in bettering their lot if we had had a socialized industry? Under private enterprise, the mine union has grown enormously powerful.

Management is always present to confer with union heads over wages, working conditions, and any other controversial point. The result is that the average American coal miner earns some $75 a week, and many earn $100 and upwards. Living standards in our typical mining towns would seem unbelievable to the British miners.

Disturbed By Phony Night Calls

PROPER USE of the telephone should be taught to all children at as early an age as possible, so that they can use this means of communication if need requires.

Children should be made to understand, however, that the telephone is not a plaything and that its value depends on confining it to right uses.

While some sorts of juvenile mischief are excusable, these do not extend to such misbehavior as has been indulged in by various groups of Mansfield teen-agers who have thought it "good fun" to call physicians, or other persons, during the night and ask some sort of ridiculous question before giggling and hanging up the receiver.

One local physician who has been disturbed in this way, reports having received such calls between 2 and 3 a. m. at a time he would otherwise have been getting needed rest, and is inclined to believe that chief blame rests upon parents who do not know where their children are, or what they are doing at that time of night.

He recalls that one night during the war ten or twelve doctors received fictitious calls and says that such experiences account for many doctors not answering the phone during the night, and refusing to make night calls unless they know definitely that the phone message is authentic.

Any ananymous telephone call is reprehensible, but unnecessary night calls which disturb the sleep of busy people may be rightly classed as evidencing an extreme low in mentality—and surely Mansfield's expensively maintained educational system, as well as parental authority, is lacking in some elements if presumably intelligent children feel that such conduct is to be condoned—and endured without protest.

Strange Languages Retard Unity

UNITY of thought and purpose among the different groups composing the nation of India as it is today depends to a large extent upon their ability to agree on a common language, say observers there.

Higher education in India, as sponsored by the British, has been carried in the English language, with a resulting broadening of the separation of interests between the educated and the uneducated. Those trained to assist in governing their people had little in common with the rank and file.

Not only do the different provinces use radically different languages, but several dialects are used within each province. Both the present government and the people it represents are devoting serious study to the question of a common language. Much time is likely to pass before a workable solution is found to the problem.

The diverse inhabitants of such a large area as the United States may give part of the credit for their governmental unity to the fact that a common language exists. Thus differences may be clearly stated, debated, and resolved. Many of India's problems must wait for solution until the greater one of a common language is solved.

Sad Plight of Berlin Zoos

THE WAR and its aftermath have played havoc with the Berlin zoo, and the children there are likely to grow up without ever having seen an elephant.

An American newspaper man, interviewing a Berlin zoo-keeper found him in a sadly depressed state. He declared that the German children, far from being likely to feed the animals, were more likely to eat them.

Striking a more serious note, he said that few exhibits remain, and inquired if "some elephants and perhaps a few tigers could be sent from America" to help round out their collection.

Going to the zoo and viewing the strange animals with wide-eyed wonder is one of childhood's most exciting experiences. European children, who are denied so many of the perquisites of childhood, are losing this fun, also.

There's a Difference, It Seems

WHAT is the difference between a ship and a boat? This is a question which frequently gets landlubbers into trouble in vacation season or at other times when they may be exposed to life on the water. Call a salt-water seaman's ship a boat and you really get his dander up.

In sailing days there was a clear-cut rule: A vessel with a bowsprit and three or more properly-rigged masts was a ship, anything less was a boat. With steamships and motorships there is no such easy rule. The sailor will tell you that any craft which can be carried aboard a ship is a boat. That's all very well if you can see the boat on the ship, but if a middle-sized boat carries a small boat, does it become a ship? For the sake of landsmen, seamen should work this thing out.

One observer points out that our form of government does not guarantee happiness, it only makes possible the pursuit of it.

With all the advance in civilization, it seems strange that the slaughter of men is still considered so casually.

The Only Place In the World It's Being Done.

A Voice From the Country

Communism Presents Primitive Theories

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

SOMETHING very strange is happening in the two-party political history of the United States. The Republican party, which began its long history as the liberal party, is returning to its old position while the Democratic party, split into two parts, is becoming the reactionary faction. Things have been moving in this direction for a long time but it required two developments to clarify the situation. One was the formation of the Dixiecrat group and the other included the developments in communist Russia and in socialist England. Some of the confusion which clouded the issue arose from the misuse of the word "liberal" which was appropriated by communists, socialists, fellow travellers, New Dealers and Fair Dealers.

BROMFIELD

They operated upon the false thesis that Marxian doctrines represented progress in the world and that the Welfare state, in which everybody (in theory) got something for nothing at the sacrifice of personal liberty and dignity, marked progress in the history of self-government by the human race.

The Soviet government as a progressive or liberal force has blown up in the face of the communists and fellow travellers, as well as the sympathetic New Dealers.

It has turned out to be more evil, more unsatisfactory and reactionary than the old czarist regime and in most aspects has proven to be nothing more than a kind of inverted Nazi government.

* * *

Socialism Dismal Failure.

IN ENGLAND socialism, even with hundreds of millions of American dollars poured in to support and aid it, has by now turned out to be a dismal failure, economically as well as in terms of welfare and liberty.

It has imposed upon the British people measures, which in this country would lead to the flouting of the law and even open rebellion. The benefits given in return can only be described as minescule, and the people are discovering that doctors' bills are much cheaper than free false teeth given them by a vast and stupid bureaucracy but paid for out of the people's own tax money.

It is becoming abundantly clear, as it always should have been, that both socialist and communist doctrines represent stages in human political development through which man passed long ago on his way to democracy and personal liberty and welfare, and that therefore they represent not progress but a turning back to an earlier and more primitive stage of human political development.

But to return to the two great political parties in this country, the Republicans contain within their ranks no element so reactionary as many of the Dixiecrat members of the Democratic party.

They contain few elements such as those Fair Dealers within the Democratic party who, calling themselves "liberal", advocate constantly and persistently a turn backward toward Communism and Socialism.

* * *

Taft Real American Liberal.

ONE of the strangest anomalies in all our history is the accusation launched at Senator Taft that he is conservative and even reactionary.

He represents possibly the best variety of real American liberalism, believing in political and social progress in terms of reality and without cheap political clap-trap such as the Welfare state and the Brannan plan.

There is no man in Washington today with greater integrity and greater courage. He has never condescended to bribe his way to election with extravagant promises and he has never allowed himself to be bullied by special interests, whether they be Big Business or its equally dangerous rival Big Labor.

No man has ever had more at heart the welfare of the American people in the true and not the demagogic sense and no man has a greater knowledge of government, of finances and of taxation.

There is nothing about him of the Pendergast school of politics which promises everybody everything in order to gain an election and apparently fulfills not one of its promises.

* * *

Highest Type Government

IT IS TIME, I think, that the American people recognize how well off they are and that their government represents the highest form of political philosophy and practice yet evolved.

That by continuing that form of government, with its individual freedom and responsibility and self-respect, they are performing a great service in preserving ideals which Man won for himself through so many centuries of bitter struggle.

Turning backward to Welfare states and Marxism is the purest and blackest retrogression. The word "liberal" has been befouled, besmirched and misappropriated to a degree that even Henry Wallace sought a new word "progressive" to designate his strange, unearthly ideology.

There are signs that the circle is completing itself and that we may be returning to genuine American liberalism, with its assertion of the dignity of man rather than his incompetency, his idiocy and his willingness to be "kept".

I refer to Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 73 years of age, now on a visit to America. For 32 years he has been head of his own hospital in French equatorial Africa, where he devoted a lot of time to lepers.

In addition to a life largely devoted to the jungle sick, he found time to write "The Quest of the Historical Jesus" and a biography of Bach, and is at work on "Reverence for Life." He's a fine musician too.

Johnson Rules Out 70-Group Air Force

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A few months ago any move to scale down the 70-group Air Force would have brought howls of anguish from Congress and certain Air Force advocates. But it is indicative of the improved harmony slowly settling down over the three warring armed services, that Secretary of Defense Johnson has quietly decreed a 48-group air force — and it did not cause a ripple. Johnson first broke the news to the joint chiefs of staff, in an off-the-record session. Briefly and succinctly he explained that the original 70-group force had been based on using the B-50 and the B-29, which were cheaper planes and which the joint chiefs of staff now had declared outmoded, in favor of the B-36.

PEARSON

But the B-36, Johnson continued, is a much more expensive plane, and to build 70 air groups around it would send the military budget from $14,780,000,000 up to $17,000,000,000.

Furthermore, Johnson said that building too many B-36's now would probably mean they would be out-of-date two or three years hence. Therefore, he proposed spreading the building program over a longer period.

Finally, he pointed out that, if war should come, production could be speeded up in a relatively short time.

Johnson's presentation was brief, to the point and positive. He left no doubt in the minds of the military men who listened to him that he had made up his mind.

Note—Later that day Johnson made the same presentation to a secret session of the Senate armed services committee. They also accepted the plan without argument. Some experts, incidentally, figure the proposed 48 groups at 54 groups.

Next Generation.

I DO NOT know whether Alger Hiss was ever guilty of being a communist, but I do know that a lot of youngsters turned out by the schools and colleges in the depression years of around his time were discouraged and disillusioned.

Depression breeds discouragement. And the more the youngsters pounded the pavements, the easier prey they became for the rabble-rousers and soapboxers.

That is why it is so important to give openings to the 1,600,000 youngsters graduated from high schools and colleges last month — 70 per cent of the college graduates being veterans.

That is also why the step taken by William Fulton Kurtz, head of the Pennsylvania Company of Philadelphia, is so important. Kurtz wrote to every firm doing business with his bank, urging that they give openings to these youngsters.

"These young people," he said, "are the foundation stones upon which this country must build. I sincerely urge that you make the employment of as many as you can, your own personal project This will be good for you and me, good for them and good for the nation."

Hoover's FBI.

THOSE who criticize J. Edgar Hoover for having a certain amount of unchecked gossip in his confidential files might be interested in this hitherto unpublished fact.

Two years before the expose of Maj. Gen. Benny Meyers in connection with airplane procurement scandals, the FBI received an anonymous letter stating that Meyers was engaged in irregularities.

Hoover sent the letter to Gen. Hap Arnold, then chief of the Air Corps, who, instead of checking the letter, discarded it because it was unsigned.

Later Arnold was severely criticized for having allowed Benny Meyers to operate right under his nose.

Incidentally, this column also received rumors of General Meyers' irregularities during the war, and published on Dec. 1, 1942, a charge that Meyers was practicing deliberate deception regarding airplane production figures. The charge, if untrue, would have been libelous. However, it was made only after careful checking.

The anonymous letter received by the FBI could not be checked by the FBI without permission from the Army, since its own inspector general has jurisdiction over military personnel. That was why Hoover sent the letter to General Arnold.

Note 1 — Perhaps the solution for FBI files is to have two sets: 1.) strictly confidential and containing unchecked data never to be made public; 2.) a set of evaluated files, containing carefully checked data, known to be true, which could be produced in court. Note 2 — On another point, Hoover says: "Some of my friends in Congress think they are flattering me by proposing that the FBI be constituted as a separate agency. I do not agree. The FBI is an investigating agency for the justice department, which is the prosecuting agency. The two must work together, and thus cannot be divorced."

Getting Johnson's Number

SECRETARY of Defense Johnson doesn't make a habit of giving his private phone number to ladies, but he made an exception recently with Alice Johnson of the Seattle Times.

Because Alice did a take-off on the new defense chief at a women's press party, he jokingly gave her his private number at the Pentagon building.

A few weeks later, Alice needed to confirm a story in a hurry and dialed the secret number. The secretary of defense answered personally.

"How the hell did you get this number?" he thundered.

Miss Johnson reminded Secretary Johnson that he himself had given it to her.

He laughed, apologized, and told her to call him any time.

Assignment: America

An Old-Time 4th of July

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK—Everybody goes around beating his gums these days, sounding off about what this country needs. Excuse me while I get into the act. What this country needs more of are genuine, old fashioned Fourth of July celebrations — and at every village, cross roads and store. I hanker for the kind of 4ths of Julys we had when I was knee-high and before we Americans got so almighty sophisticated. I crave an old-fashioned sentimental binge full of unabashed patriotism, with an orator to make the eagle scream (and who's got a better right??) a community picnic with footraces for the kids and a sack race for the grown-ups, and with a fine fireworks display in the evening to top off a grand and glorious day, hot, languid and chuck full of flag-waving and fried chicken.

INEZ ROBB

Suppose such a Fourth of July celebration is "as corny as Kansas in August?" What's the matter with corn, Bud? There's a lot of truth in good, honest corn. And me and millions of other Americans are in the mood today to hear an orator confirm our sneaking suspicions that we ain't done so bad in the past, are doing right well today and can be expected to do real good in the foreseeable future.

When I was growing up in the Boise Valley, the Fourth of July was to summer what Christmas was to winter. We looked forward to it and planned for it months in advance. We kids saved our pennies for fire crackers, knowing papa and the uncles couldn't resist the roman candles.

I guess the most excitement we ever had in Caldwell, Idaho, was on a Fourth of July thirty years ago. The council bought $1500 worth of fireworks that year. That was a lot of taxpayers' money for fireworks in a town of 5,000. But World War I was just over and already the boys were home from France.

The day droned on. The orator acquitted himself and the nation with honor. We had all et until we were like to burst. And now we were waiting for the dark and the crowning glory of the day, the fireworks.

As dusk came, people drifted over near the platform from which the fireworks would be set off. Eller Joe, one of the councilmen, sat on the platform, keeping guard over the fireworks. Everybody liked Eller Joe, a man with a heart of gold. It was only later they also remembered he always had had two left feet.

* * *

Then It Happened!

THE SEEGAR was almost ash when he lit the next and tossed the butt over his shoulder.

What happened next happened so quick that no two stories ever were alike, but it was agreed that the discarded seegar landed in the fireworks and in less than a split second, $1500 worth of fireworks were going off in all directions and Eller Joe was chased right off the platform by a low-flying echelon of pin, wheels that caught him in the rear and did such damage that Eller J subsequently had to go home wrapped in the bunting that had trimmed the band stand.

There was an awful stampede away from the platform as citizens tried to outdistance roman candles, rockets, torpedoes and sparklers.

Most of the town's proper matrons, like Mama, ran screaming into the bushes under the first and last aerial bombardment the town has ever known.

Cousin Clay's Sunday suit would have been a total loss if it hadn't come with two pairs of pants. And Mis' Smythe lost her transformation when she fell, in full flight, into the irrigation ditch.

Fortunately, no one was hurt. But about the only people in Caldwell who enjoyed the fireworks that year were a few who lived up the road a piece. They said the display seemed awful short for $1500 worth, but it was sure purty and lively while it lasted.

Timely Editorial

What Will a Dollar Buy?

A Federal Reserve Board survey of consumer demand has disclosed no significant lessening of desire for new goods or lack of money with which to buy. Consumers simply have been waiting for lower prices, a fact responsible for business slowness and an ominously creeping unemployment.

This estimate of the situation is sharply at variance with the claim, made in support of fourth-round wage increases, that the remedy lies in bolstering purchasing power through higher money wages.

It appears there still is plenty of purchasing power. The question is whether it ever will be used, if higher wages are insisted on.—Detroit News.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Upsetting the Apple Cart."

There are many setbacks in the line of work or business more disastrous than the misfortune of the apple gatherer or apple vendor in upsetting his apple cart—but they have failed to perpetuate themselves in every-day speech as this one has done. Why? How did "upsetting the apple cart" start as a popular item of modern American slang—one so commonly used that it would be superfluous to discuss its significance in every-day talk or the purposes which it commonly serves?

The reason is that the metaphor of upsetting one's cart to indicate misfortune has had over 2000 years to engrave itself upon the common tongue. It was the Latin dramatist Plautus who first said it, or who first put the idea in black and white.

Tyranny of Relatives

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ONE of the toughest problems sensitive, decent people have to face is the problem of how to get along with relatives.

It ought to be an easy matter really. All it takes is simple affection, respect and courtesy shown one to another, just as in other human relations. But how often is this rule observed in family life?

Sometimes it is, to be sure, but rarely-if you stop to think about it. The trouble is that too often we assume that blood relationship carries with it extra rights and privileges as well as extra responsibilities and obligations.

Mary assumes she has the right to wear Jane's slacks or swim suit whenever she pleases, just because they are sisters. Jack never bothers to ask brother Bill's permission to use his bicycle.

Harry thinks Aunt Belle, who has a sizeable bank balance and no family of her own, should be happy to lend him a couple thousand to start a business-without interest-and Aunt Belle is disturbed because she knows this is expected of her even though Harry has proved time and again that he never pays back such loans.

We all feel impelled to love and honor our parents, and we do so sometimes beyond the dictates of our best judgment, knowing how sentimentally unrealistic they are.

In the name of family loyalty we demand-or grant-unreasonable favors and thereby invite trouble. We pretend to love and admire uncles, cousins, brothers and sisters whom we know to be 18 carat phonys, all the while secretly despising them and resenting the consideration they exact just because they are blood kinsmen.

All these stresses and strains set up emotional and nervous tensions which can and do bring disaster if carried too far.

We are affronted by the freedom with which our relations invade our privacy. We resent the pretense of affection and respect we feel forced to show toward them. We show our irritation and annoyance by giving short, snappish answers. We become abominably rude and when at last provoked beyond endurance, we fly into a rage and say and do things no civilized person would think of saying or doing in the presence of a stranger

What we need is the example of good manners in the home. We may not be able to understand and love all our relations nor whould we expect them to understand and love us without deserving their love. But if we accept them as they are and give them the simple kindness and courtesy which we would accord and decent stranger, we'll find that relatives can actually be fun!

Little Brothers

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

Little brothers dressed alike
Share their playthings and their bike,
Ride their wagon side by side,
Roam the garden with a stride
That suggests the cowboys they
Emulate now when they play.

Little brothers dressed alike,
One a taffy-colored tyke,
One a darker little boy,
Have the whole day to enjoy.
Sometimes quarreling, but then,
That is true of older men!

Little brothers, dressed alike,
Hand in hand for hours they hike
With enjoyment, finding much
In their world to see and touch;
Growing, reaching, heart and mind,
To one destiny inclined.

DROPSEY-CAFFREY RITE SOLEMNIZED

The St. Peter's Catholic church was the scene of the pretty wedding ceremony solemnized Saturday morning at 9:30 for Miss Patricia Jane Dropsey and James Charles Caffrey of Waterbury, Conn. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Justine Dropsey, 195½ West Third street, and Mr. Caffrey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Caffrey jr., Waterbury, Conn.

Father William Conces officated for the ceremony and a program of nuptial music was played by Raymond Baum.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with palms and two large altar bouquets of assorted summer flowers. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Danner Dalton, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. She was attired in a lovely sheer marquisette floor length gown, made along simple lines. The waist was basque effect with a tiny Peter Pan collar and self-covered buttons trimmed the front of the waist. The skirt was very full in three folds of marquisette. The ensemble was worn over stiff taffeta and the skirt fell into a slight train. The sleeves were short and puffed and completing her costume were little lace mitts.

Holding in place her very full silk imported French illusion veil was a pearlized headband.

Miss Genevieve Buzenski served as maid of honor, attired in a matching style gown to the brides, only in Nile green, with matching mitts. Her headband was of mixed flowers to match her bouquet.

Miss Dropsey carried a white orchid on a prayer book, tied with white satin shower ribbons.

Mrs. Dropsey wore a navy blue print dress with pink accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Caffrey was attired in a white print with white accessories and wore a gardenia corsage.

Ushering the guests to their pews were Richard Dropsey, brother of the bride, and Thomas O'Donnell, a close friend.

Norman Caffrey of Waterbury, Conn., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

A reception was held from 2 to 4 p. m. at Johns Park pavilion for 125 guests. Mrs. R. O. Predmore, sister of the bride, Mrs. H. F. Fitzsimmons and Mrs. R. E. Rogers, cousins of the bride, presided at the serving table.

When the couple left late in the day the bride wore a navy blue and pink frock with pink accessories and her bridal orchid. After July 18 the newlyweds will reside in Waterbury, Conn.

The bride has been employed at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, and was graduated from St. Peter's schools. Mr. Caffrey was graduated from Sacred Heart schools in Waterbury, and is employed by the Blake and Johnson company of Waterville, Conn.

Guests in attendance from out-of - town were Mr. and Mrs. Caffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Caffrey, Mrs. Roland Grenier and daughter, all of Waterbury, Conn., and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Manyo of Ashtabula.

Miss Margaret Ann Ehalt Wed To Mr. Imhoff

PALMS, FERNS AND TWO BOUQUETS of Sno-Princess gladioli and Marconi daisies decorated the altar at which Miss Margaret Ann Ehalt became the bride of Richard Carl Imhoff Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic church. The two large beauty baskets between the altar and communion rail were also of all white gladioli, daisies and larkspur. On the communion rail were placed two modernistic arrangements of Marconi daisies.

Monsignor R. C. Goebel officiated for the single ring ceremony.

Miss Ehalt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Ehalt, 384 West Third street, and Mr Imhoff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe E. Imhoff, 547 Arlington avenue.

Raymond C. Baum presided at the organ for the nuptial music preceding and during the service.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a pure white French organdie gown for her wedding. A white pique applique trimmed the cuff of the low neckline. This same effect was fashioned in the full skirt at the floor line. The medium length train extended from the skirt which was worn over a stiff taffeta. The tight-fitting sleeves came to points over the hands.

The little white bonnet which completed her ensemble was of sheer French illusion, poke style. The squared front was edged in several layers of ruching, and at the back the ruching was repeated. A finger-tip full veil was held in place by the bonnet.

Miss Ehalt carried a select white Accolade orchid surrounded by Stephanotis blossoms on a white prayer book.

Miss Rhea Imhoff, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor, and Mrs. John J. Eichinger, a close friend of the bride, was bridesmaid. Miss Ehalt chose for her two attendants lovely gowns of frost-etched imported swiss organdie in pure white. The maid of honor wore her frock over summer yellow, and the bridesmaid's gown was over Nile green. They were made with open neckline slightly off-the-shoulder, and cuffed with bands of frost-etched material. The full Ballerina length skirts were fashioned with a yoke effect edged with deep borders of daisy design. Dainty satin slippers with very high heels were dyed to match the respective gown. They also wore lace mitts with ruffled cuffs.

The garden hats worn by the attendants were in matching colors of their gowns. The open crowns were trimmed in white shasta daisies with yellow centers.

Ann Elizabeth Deaton Becomes Bride of Mr. Fendrick Saturday

GALION—Imported lace over candlelight Skinner satin fashioned the beautiful wedding gown of Miss Ann Elizabeth Deaton when she became the bride of James Clifford Fendrick, yesterday, at First Methodist church. The bodice of the gown was fitted, and scalloped at the neck on the sheer yoke to have an off-the-shoulder effect. The long, tight sleeves were pointed over the hands, and tiny buttons closed the waist in the back. The very full skirt swept into a cathedral train. English illusion was used in the finger-tip length veil which was caught to a pearlized orange blossom halo. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses, delphinium, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Warren C. Deaton sr., gave his daughter in marriage. The double ring ceremony was read at 3 p. m., by the Rev. Norman R. Somerville, pastor of the church, when open church was observed.

Before the bride and her attendants proceeded down the white walk to the altar, a program of music was presented by Miss Dorothy Plack, organist, and Ronald Somerville, tenor, both of Galion, and Miss Donna Kemmerling of Cleveland, the bride's schoolmate at Ohio Wesleyan last year.

Decorations were beautiful in their simplicity. There were two beauty baskets filled with all white flowers, palms, lighted tapers in two seven-branched candelabra, and white satin bows and flowers marked the pews. Jack Fendrick, brother of the bridegroom, and Robert Corry, lighted the candles.

The attendants, all gowned alike, wore taffeta fashioned with basque waists, high round necklines, cap sleeves and long taffeta mitts to match. The full skirts were draped at the hips. Net bonnets and colonial bouquets completed the outfits. Mrs. Warren C. Deaton jr., of Danville, Ky., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor in rose taffeta. The bridesmaids, all wearing powder blue taffeta, were Miss Clarilee Barnes of Columbus, Miss Marilyn Glenn, Miss Betty Hart, both of Galion, and Miss Marietta Barnes of Blackstone, Va., roommate of the bride at Mary Baldwin college, Staunton, Va. The bride's gifts to her attendants were gold vanities.

Robert Neff, a close friend of the bridegroom, was best man. Two brothers of the bride, Warren jr., and Elliott Deaton, and two friends of the bridegroom, Kenneth Jones and Joseph McManes, jr., were ushers.

The wedding party received informally in the vestibule of the church following the ceremony. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Deaton was wearing a dusty rose gown with hat to match, and other accessories in white. Mrs. Fendrick, mother of the bridegroom, wore a mink satin gown with black and beige accessories. Both mothers had orchid corsages.

Afterward, a reception was held at the Deaton home for 100 guests. Mrs. W. R. Deaton of Greensboro, N. C., aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake, and school friends of the former Miss Deaton, who assisted in serving, were Carol Pickering, Joan Dougherty, Lora Jean Heffelfinger, all of Galion, and Beverly Garver of Medina, fiancee of the bride's brother, Elliott.

Mr. Fendrick and his bride left for a 10-day honeymoon along the Atlantic coast in North Carolina. For traveling, Mrs. Fendrick was attired in an aqua palm beach suit with brown accessories.

The couple have an apartment at 339 Harding Way West to which they will return after the honeymoon.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Deaton sr., of 437 Harding Way West. She was graduated from Galion high school and subsequently attended Mary Baldwin college, school for girls, at Staunton, Va., and Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware.

Mr. Fendrick, a graduate of Galion high school, where he was active in athletics, was in the Navy for two years with service overseas. He is employed at the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company, here.

Guests came to the wedding from Ashland, Cleveland, Columbus, Greensboro, N. C. The bridegroom's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Barnes of South Gate, Calif., were among the guests.

Area 'Stay-at-Homes' Offered Safe, Sane Holiday Programs

Most Places Plan Display Of Fireworks

Sports Events and Concerts Attractions

Thousands of Mansfield area residents will enjoy safe and sane Fourth of July celebrations this week end. Area communities are inducing citizens to keep off highways and in their home city away from traffic dangers. Municipal park programs, interrupted only long enough for family basket dinners, are planned.

Evening fireworks displays climax most celebrations with athletic events getting the daytime spotlight. Speakers will be headlined in many areas.

Bellville will rededicate the band stand during Monday's observance. Bellville's parade forms at 1 p. m. Monday with the rededication program at 2:15 p. m. following music by the high school band. Patriotic songs, more band music and a ball game are afternoon events. Prizes will be dropped from a plane at 3:15 p. m. A free square dance is slated for 7 p. m. following lunch.

Crestliners will mark the holiday with a program in Hamilton park. It will be similar to last year's affair with concessions, two afternoon and one evening ball games. R. H. Saum, general chairman, says the high school band will present an evening concert and fireworks will be shot off at 9:45 p. m.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, Better Business, Rotary and Exchange clubs, sponsor Shelby's holiday program at the W. W. Skiles athletic field. At 2:30 p. m. the Shelby American Legion Junior team plays the Mansfield Madison nine. A band concert, under direction of Dwight Summerville, will be held at 8:30 p. m. on the football field. Spectators in the stands will remain for the 9:30 p. m. fireworks display. Henry Miller of the Jaycees is general chairman.

HOMECOMING ADDED

A homecoming will be an added feature to the celebration in Millersburg. Holmes Post No. 192 American Legion, sponsors the program which features Judge C. V. Montgomery, of the court of appeals, as speaker.

The Bucyrus city park board is handling the Monday activities in Aumiller park. Bruce Sharrock, councilman and park board president, is in charge. A softball game between the Ohio Cranes and Swan Rubbers teams, rated one - two in the City Industrial league, will precede the 9 p. m. fireworks display in Bucyrus.

Loudonville's program will be held in Riverside park with the Chamber of Commerce sponsoring the affair. Edgar Raby, Chamber president, will be in charge. At 3 p. m. the B All Stars meet Perrysville Potters, the A loop leaders, in a softball fray. Children games, with prizes offered, are set for 6 p. m. An 8 p. m. band concert is billed and fireworks set for 9 p. m. The Legion State Highway patrol will police the park, car parking and assure safety.

Perhaps the most ambitious program is planned in Heise park in Galion. The park committee, sponsors of the affair which is a park benefit, headline a home talent production, "Laff It Off". A children's matinee will be held Sunday afternoon with Monday afternoon and 8 p. m. presentations billed. Audience participation will be included.

Winners of the Tiny Tot contest will be introduced at 8:15 p. m. Monday. The contest had 58 entrants and voting was done through coin cans in various business places where the child's picture was displayed. Fireworks are being provided by Scarbrough Post, American Legion, and the Buckeye Rangers will conduct a square dance. Concession stands will be operated by lodge and civic groups. Arthur Manzer is general chairman.

Ashland's celebration will center in Brookside park with the opening salute at 1 p. m. being given veterans of foreign wars. Aerial bombs and releasing of balloons launch the affair with sports and music sharing the afternoon spotlight. Ashland merchants are offering prizes to winners of the tennis singles and doubles at 1:30 p. m., swimming races, diving contest and bowling on the green at 2:15 p. m., children's sack races and games at 2:45 p. m. and a horseshoe pitching contest at 3:45 p. m.

A 2 p. m. softball game sends the Ashland Fraternal Order of Police team against the Myers Pumps athletes. A tug - of - war will be at 3:15 p. m. and Legion band concerts set for 3:30 and 8:30 p. m. Free soft drinks will be furnished picnickers and music will be played during the supper hour.

The Ashland Indians and Wooster Lumber teams play after which time prize awards will be made. An elaborate fireworks display is carded for 9 p. m. The Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the affair, says Ashland druggists and nurses will man a first aid tent. Ambulance service will be available and complete police control of traffic has been arranged. Fire lines will be maintained and fire apparatus will be on hand during the holiday.

Richland's First European Displaced Family Establishes Home

County Farmer 'Imports' Latvians

By BILL HERRING
News-Journal State Editor

BELLVILLE—Richland county's first European displaced family group moved a month ago into a tenant farm house on the nearby George A. Miller place on Possum Run road. The group of four adults and two children originally lived on a farm near Gulbene, Latvia.

Arrangements for their transportation from the Fishbach DP camp in Germany were made by Miller through C. H. McGrew, county extension agent, and the Church World Service. The Latvians had walked 250 miles over mountains to reach the protection of the DP camp in the United States sector in Germany.

Miller filed his application on Dec. 17 and the Latvians arrived in Mansfield May 31 after a nine-day ocean voyage. The Bellville Lutheran church congregation donated needed food clothing and furniture and had the tenant farm house ready for the new occupants when they reached the 491-acre Miller farm.

* * *

The family group consists of Janis Putnims, 35; his wife, Berta, 37; his mother, Mrs. Alvina Putnims, 65; his brother, Reinis, 24; his son, Janis jr., 6, and his daughter, Mara, 4. All speak English with the exception of his mother but they find it hard to follow a rapid-fire conversation, especially when slang terms are used.

Berta is a registered nurse and was impressed into nursing service at the DP camp. Janis had nearly completed his civil engineering studies at the University of Riga when war interfered. In Latvia collegians require seven years to obtain a degree, as summers are devoted to outside work.

The Putnims were in reality wealthy Latvians before the Soviet took over as they owned 325 acres of land, had 25 cows, 20 hives of bees, 25 hogs and three acres of orchards. They grew a limited amount of commercial vegetables and worked three teams, of six horses, as mechanized farming was unknown there.

* * *

The Baltic states were the first victims of communistic brutality, Stalin taking charge in Latvia on June 16, 1940. The Latvians are a hard-working and democratic people who established their republic after World War I.

"In Latvia we fear Stalin and the communists for the damage they've caused," Mrs. Putnims said. "There are two things I hate — Stalin and snakes."

Mrs. Putnims was wary of words when questioned and did not volunteer information until assured the reporter did not work for a communist paper.

The Putnims speak German, Russian, Latvian (akin to Sanerit) and English. Latvian schools taught German and English during the days of the republic. The American brand of English confuses the Putnims—they recently puzzled over the expressions of "shut the door" and "close the door."

* * *

"We want to get our feet on solid ground," Mrs. Putnims said. "We like to work and enjoy it in this county, although the Ohio heat is bothersome to us as Latvia has a seven-month winter, where it hits 40 below frequently. I guess we arrived at the wrong season."

"Janis is slower in accepting the change but he sees the advantage of mechanized farming," she continued. "He never saw a hay-loader in operation before coming here or a side-delivery rake. We marvel at everyone having his own automobile. Only officials have them overseas."

Miller was surprised when the Putnims expected a bounty for picking up stones from his fields. The Putnims said Europeans receive bounties for so clearing fields.

* * *

Latvian farm crops are much like ours, the Putnims said. Their season is too short for corn, but wheat, oats and sugar beets are major crops. With three sugar beet factories in the country, the citizens were urged to use three spoonsful of sugar with each cup of coffee to maintain the industry, they said.

Miller had requested a large DP family from north of central Germany to assist in working his large farm. There are five houses on the place and he has 6,000 square feet under glass in greenhouses, registered polled white-faced Hereford cattle, registered Hampshire hogs for breeding stock, registered Hampshire sheep, white rock laying chickens and grows 20 acres of commercial vegetables out-of-doors. This includes cabbage, leaf and head lettuce, tomatoes, broccoli, green and wax beans, sweet corn and mangoes.

Four acres have overhead irrigation. Miller started farming in 1931 and now has 491 acres. His son, George A. jr. helps him supervise the farm.

"This Possum Run road place must be the Richland county cross-roads," Miller remarked. "We're on a Bellville rural postal route, have the Lucas telephone and are in the Butler school district."

The registered cattle at the Miller farm enthuses the Putnims.

"It's different in Latvia," Janis said. "We have other breeds and the Latvians average two cows per person in population. This is quite different than in Greater Russia, where there are 26 persons to one cow."

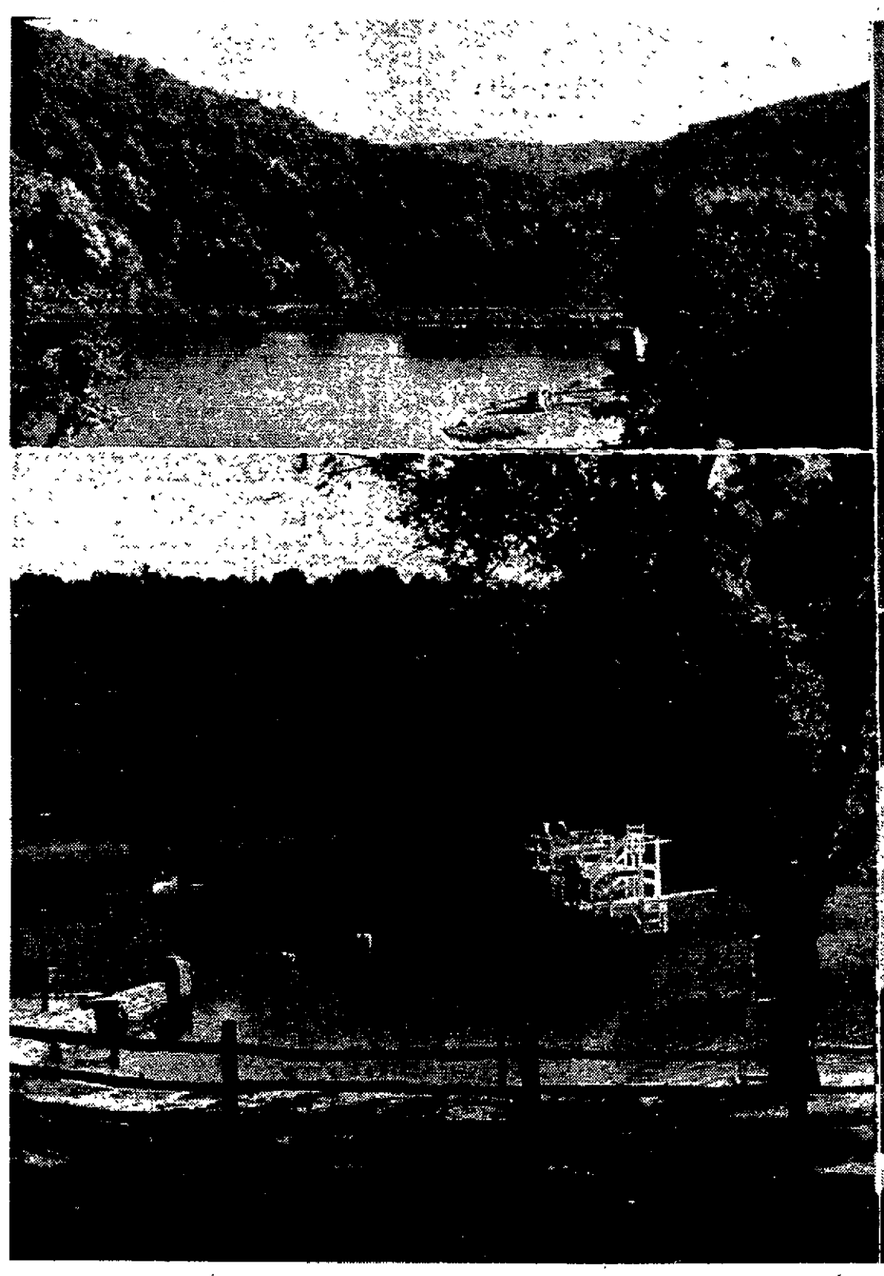
SAILING ON BUCKEYE LAKE

PICNIC GROUNDS AT LAKE HOPE

SCENE IN OHIO CAVERNS

IN CEDAR FALLS STATE PARK

Vacation In Ohio



VARIETY—Vacationists can find nearly any type of attraction in Ohio, including many points of historical significance. An example is the Indian serpent mound (top) in Adams county. This huge example of the mound builders art, a depository for Indian relics, annually attracts thousands of visitors. And for those who just want to loll on the beach, the new East Harbor State park (bottom) matches any on the lake.

WIDE CHOICE—Family fun at East Harbor State park is illustrated in the beach photo (top, right). Impressive and beautiful is the Hoover Memorial at Marion (bottom, right). Variety is the keynote in the Buckeye state's attraction as a vacation center, both for those who reside in Ohio and for visitors from other states. In every part of Ohio there are lakes which provide excellent accommodations for vacationists. Shown above is a picture of Pike lake (top, left), located in Pike county. Other photograph (bottom, left) shows the lake in Blue Rock forest, located near Duncan Falls. Pictures of these lakes were selected at random to illustrate the type of outdoor attractions available in the state. Ohio has scores of other lakes, small and large, in addition to the long shoreline along Lake Erie.

State 'Tops' For Holidays

Few states match Ohio in the variety of recreational areas.

Lakes, woodland trails, choice spots for camping and fish, historical monuments, and virtually any other type of vacation amusement are available to residents of the Buckeye state, and to visitors from other states.

A list of recreational areas in the state (available from the Ohio Publicity and Development Commission, Columbus) names, locates and describes the attractions and facilities of 123 recreational areas throughout the state. Over 50 of these areas have camping facilities.

Communism Engaging Religions In Climactic Struggle

Major Battle Rages In Eastern Europe

(By Associated Press)

Religions over a vast area of this bruised planet are engaged today in a climatic struggle for the minds and souls of generations yet unborn.

The major battle has been joined in Eastern Europe between the forces of religion and the ruling communists. Behind the iron curtain organized religion fights for its life. Its spokesmen say the Red goal is extermination of all religious influence, leaving perhaps a shell — a state-controlled church wholly controlled by and subservient to the communists.

The communists in the east have placed the Red star of Moscow above the cross of Christianity, the Star of David and the Sword of Islam, and men are told they owe undivided allegiance to a materialistic, anti-religious concept.

In the Soviet Union, the official line, as pronounced by Prime Minister Stalin himself, is that there shall be no interference whatever with the campaign of anti-religious propaganda.

This dramatic struggle occupies a great share of the world's attention today. Elsewhere in the world there are conflicts and frictions involving great religions. In the past few years, Moslem fought Jew in the Middle East in what the Arabs proclaimed a "Holy war;" Hindus and Moslems were at each others' throats in sprawling Asia. In other areas there have been islands of repression where freedom of worship as it is known to most of the west could not be said to exist.

In the west appeals have been sounded by religious leaders for a closing of ranks, but the pleas run afoul of old quarrels. In the United States, for example, the age-old debate of Catholics and Protestants over separation of church and state has flared anew.

In summary, here is the situation in which organized religion finds itself after the blood-spattered decade which began with World War II:

Overshadowing all the conflicts is the struggle in Middle and East between the Vatican and the Kremlin.

In the tenth tempestuous year of the reign of Pope Pius XII, the Vatican describes his Roman Catholic church as "an army ready for battle," to prevent his 50,000,000 followers behind the iron curtain from being forced to deny their allegiance.

The church striking back in fury, has excommunicated all Yugoslavs, all Hungarians, all Czechoslovaks who willingly took part in the acts against the church which have stirred protests throughout the Western world.

The governments of Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania stand charged by the western powers with violating their peace treaty by their anti-religious actions.

The Campaigns against the church in Eastern Europe is not so crude as the ancient persecutions in which Christians were thrown wholesale to the lions. It is, rather, a methodical, grinding-down process apparently aimed more at the next generation than the present one.

Organized religion contendsit offers a rallying point for possible opposition to communism. Thus, the communists seek to deprive the church of followers by cutting off means of educating rising generations in church doctrine. The drive has been toward government seizure of church schools, prohibition of publications, muzzling of church church spokesmen. In Russia herself it was an old story. Yugoslavia, Albania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania have had their turns. Czechoslovakia is having hers now and Poland likely is the next on the list. In all the attacks there is a singular unity of pattern.

JEWS STILL FEARFUL

There are inescapable indications, too, of sharp repressions against the Jews, still not recovered from the awful torture of the years under Hitler. Jews who fled eastward to Russia now find themselves caught in the middle of a whirlpool, fearful of those to whom they had looked in hope for liberation.

Some Jewish authorities accuse the Russians of following the Nazi pattern. Others, however, said the repression is more against Judiasm as a religion and Zionism as a nationalist tendency than against the Jews as a race. For communists there is only one nationalism — Soviet nationalism — and there is only one religion: communism.

Jews of both Hungary and Romania would go to Israel if they could, but both countries sharply restrict emigration. A week ago seven Zionist leaders were convicted by Hungary of helping Jews to leave the country. The prosecutor called them "tools in the hands of the imperialists," a familiar phrase in communism's war on religion.

In the Soviet Union itself there have been charges that (1) the teaching of the Jewish religion; (2) in Soviet Central Asia, Moslem religious leaders and followers have been ruthlessly purged until the communities have been virtually wiped out, and (3) Roman Catholics who worshipped underground were discovered and persecuted. The bulk of religious Russians are in the Russian Orthodox church, which is tolerated, although membership in it is discouraged.

Bill of Rights Copy to Go On Display

An enlarged photogelatin reproduction of the Bill of Rights will be on exhibit in the lobby of the Richland Trust company from Tuesday until July 18.

This reproduction of the famous document made from a photograph of the original, which was exhibited on the Freedom Train, is one of a series of documents aboard the Freedom Train which are being brought to Mansfield by the Richland Trust company.

The original of the document is in the custody of the National archives where it is preserved as a part of the general records of the United States.

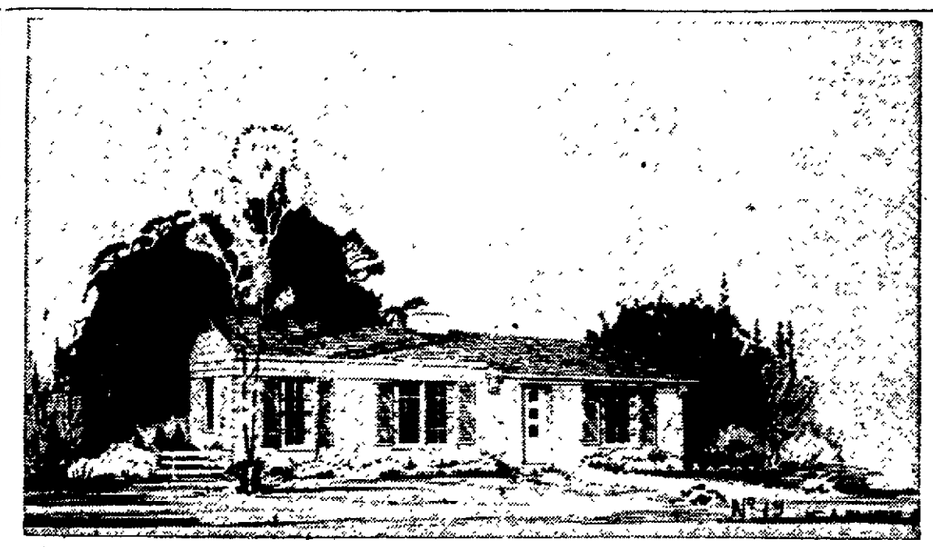
The Bill of Rights contains our guarantees of freedom of religion, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, the right to petition the government for redress of grievances, freedom from unreasonable search and seizure, the right to trial by jury, and just compensation for property taken for public use.

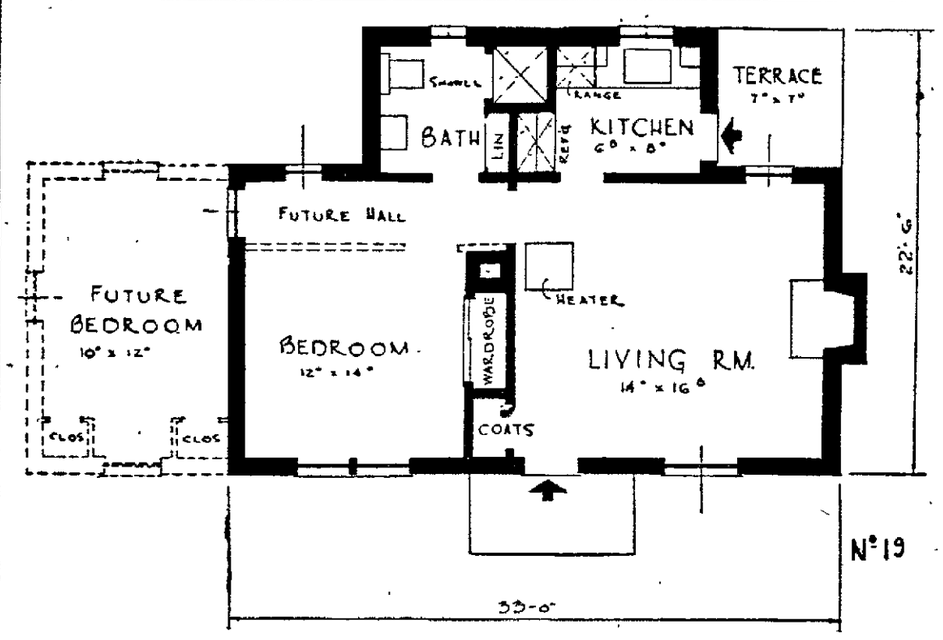
Although the Bill of Rights did not become law until 1791, the original official joint resolution was written in September, 1787. The ink and writing on the original written on a sheet of parchment 28 by 29 inches have faded through the years, but the principles have remained alive.

Judge Smashes Juvenile Club

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Juvenile Judge Henry P. Beckenbach yesterday sentenced seven youths to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster after hearing a bizarre story of a youths' club which demanded at least one stolen bicycle as "initiation fee."

The bicycle-stealing ring operated just about like a big-time auto theft gang. One of the youths, who said he was president of the club, had a complete workshop at the rear of his home where bicycles were dismantled and parts removed. Frames from which the boys were unable to remove serial numbers and other easily recognizable parts were thrown into the Mahoning river, Judge Beckenbach was told.





Small Home Design Number 19

Variable House Allows For Expansion

This small one bedroom home contains a heap of living for the young family just starting out, and is designed to be expansible upon the need of an extra bedroom.

The exterior of the house is shown built of cement or cinder blocks, but it would look equally attractive if built of brick or white clapboard siding. If you place a piece of paper over the left-hand front window, you can see how the house will look before it is expanded. It really has a very cute exterior appearance, with large picture windows in both the living room and bedroom.

The overhanging roof above the front door, the shutters and the door itself all give this home a look pf pretentiousness and individuality that is not found in the average home of this size.

The floor plans show a circulating heater in the left hand corner of the living room, which suggests this house could be built without a basement, and the square type construction would actually place the cost of this home at the very minimum for FHA mortgage approval.

As you enter the house you will note an ample closet on the left for the storage of coats. A glance to the right shows a natural fireplace with ample wall space on both sides for furniture placement. There is a large picture window in the front and another smaller window in the back of the living room overlooking a terrace.

There is no separate dining area, but there is plenty of room by this terrace for dining table and chairs. In fact, the terrace could be enclosed with screens and provide a pleasant summer eating place as there is a kitchen door opening directly on to this terrace.

The kitchen is small but very compactly designed. There is a pleasant window over the sink looking out on to the backyard with a shelf underneath which could be used for potted plants and provide a gay decorative touch to this work center.

The bath is next to the kitchen and provides space for the storage of linens. The space in the corner could be used for either a shower or the new type square tubs.

The bedroom is exceptionally large for a small home and provides ventilation in three directions until such time as the additional bedroom is added. The bedroom has a large storage wall closet with sliding doors. This type of door saves a great deal of space that is ordinarily occupied by the old swinging type door.

Admittedly, this house is small and while it would probably be necessary to install one of the deep-type kitchen sinks which could pinch-hit for laundry tubs, actually, the house has a lot of convenient and pleasant living incorporated under a very small area.

With the present high prices of building construction, this little home is all that a good many families can afford, and yet it will give them a home that is not only good looking but one that will be pleasant to live in as well, and one which any family would be proud to own, and better yet, it is designed to be made larger at some later date.

Plans for the above house may be purchased from the Scale Model Home Planning company, 505 Lafayette Building, Detroit, 26, Michigan, for five dollars.

Historians believe that the "brass" referred to in the Bible probably was bronze.

GE Displays New Steel Building

Stainless Steel Invades Housing

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. —(AP)— The General Electric company this week put on display the world's first office building built of stainless steel.

Widely accepted in everything from paring knives to auto trim, stainless steel now is a contender to replace such traditional building materials as stone, brick and mortar.

The new 460-foot, four story building here will house the offices for a new $30,000,000 turbine plant at the G. E. works.

The so-called "curtain wall" construction is only three inches thick. It is fastened to the steel bones of the building in two feet wide, fluted panels which may be anywhere up to 25 feet long.

Each panel interlocks at the side and each section fits snugly over the top of the panel below it.

The exterior surface of the relatively light weight sheet metal is backed by insulation material and a light-guage sheet metal interior surface to hold the insulation material in place and permit the erection of panels as individual units.

Steelmen contend the codes are obsolete, contending the thick walls add nothing to strength.

HEAT PROSTRATION

Danger of heat prostration in the home where one-fourth of all deaths from this cause occur, can be minimized by keeping heat out of the house with insulation and sparing use of heat-generating cook stoves, electric lights and appliances.

MRS. BARTHOLOMEW DIES

WARMINSTER, Eng. — (AP) — Mrs. Emma Bartholomew, 92-year-old grandmother of Freddie Bartholomew, the film actor, died here Friday night.

Insulation An Important Item For Homes With No Basements

Floors of a basementless house erected on a concrete slab can be as warm as 85 degrees, yet one may be cold and uncomfortable if the edges of the slab and the walls of the house are not properly insulated, say heating engineers after exhaustive studies of the subject.

Heating experts of the FHA and of the American Society of heating and Ventilating Engineers declare that to heat a basementless house properly, it is essential to prevent heat loss from the edges of the concrete slab and to prevent cold air flowing down the walls of the rooms.

They advise home-builders to include proper insulation when writing specifications for slab-floored homes built on the ground without crawl space.

The FHA expert recommends at least 2" of insulation between the edge of the slab and the point where it joins the foundation walls, with the insulation turned under the slab and extended about 2" from each foundation wall. He said that a temperature difference of one degree per foot of height between floor and ceiling will provide comfort, but that this cannot be achieved unless exposed walls are fully insulated.

"Without walls insulation, cold air flows down the walls and one's ankles will be cold even if the floor is 85 degrees," he said. "Discomfort will be experienced by the rapid flow of body heat to walls unless they are close to room air temperature."

Engineers have found that when walls are insulated full-think with mineral wool, they are within 2 or 3 degrees of the air temperature and drafts are virtually eliminated. The National Bureau of Standards repogts that full-thick mineral wool in walls reduces fuel consumption at least 17½ per cent.

Biggest heat loss from a concrete slab floor is through the edges, according to the ASHVE, and unless the slab is insulated as recommended by the FHA and the walls and roof area also insulated, a much larger heating system will be needed, fuel consumption will be abnormally high, and even with the larger heating plant, discomfort will be experienced.

Housing Projects Change Manhattan

NEW YORK — (AP) — Within a few years it is expected that one out of every 25 residents of New York City will be living in a housing project.

The new apartment projects, besides changing the face of Manhattan by removing many of the old tenements, also is upsetting an old pattern whereby neighborhoods were dominated by people of similar national backgrounds.

New Plant In City Will Produce Tile

A new tile manufacturing firm, headed by realtor George Connor, is ready to start production in a remodeled exhibition building at Richland county fairgrounds.

The new firm, bearing the name "Marble Crete Industries", will manufacture tile for floors, bath rooms, recreation rooms, store fronts, patios, and porches and stepping stones in various colors and sizes.

Connor expects to have about 25 employes when the plant begines full production. At the present time the firm employs only seven men.

The tile is made from a "formula", which Connor claims to be secret. He purchased the formula in Florida last winter from a manufacturer who gave Connor exclusive right to use the formula in Ohio. Connor also purchased some of the necessary machinery along with the formula.

The exhibition building that houses the Marble Crete Industries was leased by Connor from the fair board. Connor will move his machinery out when the junior fair takes over August 18-20.

The new process used in making the tile entirely eliminates the baking process used in making ordinary tile. The only heat obtained is from the mixture of several of the ingredients. Some of these substances are products of volcanoes.

One of the materials used is obtained from Italy.

Samples of the product have been made and Connor claims the tile is moisture-proof, fireproof, termite proof and able to hold the heat in the winter and to be cool in the summer. Connor claims his product will be 30 per cent cheaper than the conventional tile building materials.

At the present time an average of 600 square feet a day can be produced. The new tile, called Marbleite, is made in sizes as small as four inches square and a quarter of an inch thick; to two feet square by two inches thick. The larger size tile has a concrete backing and wire mesh reinforcing.

Connor expects to sub-license other counties and have other factories similar to the Mansfield plant built to manufacture the tile under a licensed franchise throughout the state. The materials used will be mixed and packaged by the plant here and sent out to other manufacturers in the state.

Machinery in the remodeled building is entirely electrically operated. Four cement mixers are used to mix the colors and other materials. The mixture is then hardened in rubber or steel molds — depending upon the size tile desired. The concrete backing and steel reinforcement is then poured into the mold. The entire process takes only 20 hours. The tile is ready for use 48 hours after being taken out of the mold.

As a realtor in Mansfield for 30 years, Connor was instrumental in developing Coolridge Heights and Coolridge Golf Course.

$100 Sewer Cost Seen

It will cost $100 to tap Mansfield sanitary sewer lines outside the city if council approves an ordinance scheduled for action at the July 6 meeting.

The sewer ordinance, if approved, will repeal the ordinance passed on June 2, 1942, which set the price of $50 for tapping a sewer line outside the city.

The ordinance states it will cost $100 for each commercial building or family residence to tap into the sewers and that the money will be credited to the sanitary sewer rental fund.

Permits to tap the outlet lines are obtained from the city sanitary engineer's office.

HARDING FRIEND DIES

MARION — (AP) — Mrs. Mary Etta Schreck, 83, believed to have been the last surviving classmate of President Warren G. Harding at Ohio Central college at Iberia, Morrow county, died yesterday.

Woman Finds Long Harvest Trek Exciting

SEYMOUR, TEX. — (AP) — One of the world's noisiest and busiest migrations is getting into full swing. It's accompanied by sweat and toil, dust and sometimes tears.

But a lovely, motherly woman who has gone along on the annual grain harvest rek for seven years finds it tan "exciting life." She is Mfs. V. W. Turner of Corsicana, Tex.

Each year in the spring the migration begins. Thousands of grain combines, accompanied by more thousands of gleaming grain trucks, roar down on the south from Canada and the northern United States.

These combines cut and thresh grain in one operation. The combines roll south until they reach warm latitudes where grain first ripens each year. Along the way other combines join the southward march.

When the men and machines reach ripe grain, they turn and work north, harvesting as they go. Finally, by fall, they cross into Canada to wind up the season.

Mrs. Turner's husband is a crew chief with an outfit of typical size. Including Turner, there are eight crewmen. He owns three combines, four trucks and a huge, 35 - foot house trailer.

The trailer is Mrs. Turner's domain.

She says: "Sometimes it seems to me that it's just as important to keep the boys well fed and to provide a home atmosphere for them as to actually combine the wheat."

And can Mrs. Turner cook? "She really can," says Glen White, a six - foot - plus youth in the crew.

The trailer is well equipped for Mrs. Turner. It has bottled gas for the range and a gas-operated refrigerator. Electrical connections provide lights, power for fans and heat for an electric iron. At one end is a semi-circular dining table which seats 10.

One half of the trailer is devoted to living quarters for Mr. and Mrs. Turner and their college sophomore daughter, Bobradine, who is going along this year. It has practically all the comforts of a stationary home.

Turner has been harvesting for 11 years. In the off season, he operates earth moving machinery and other heavy - duty equipment at Corsicana.

He's made the trip north so often that he knows in advance which farms he'll harvest. He doesn't have to scramble for jobs like the newcomers do.

Each year, he starts the season on the land of Lincoln Burns and other farmers near here. Then his route generally is through the Texas Panhandle, sometimes into western Colorado. From there he goes to Liberal and Elkhart, Kas., and on through Nebraska and South and North Dakota. Normally he ends the season at West Hope, N. D., three miles from the Canadian border. On occasion he follows the ripening wheat into Canada.

Mrs. Turner had to stay home and care for her children until 1942. She's made the trip each year since except for 1943.

It's surprising to discover that Mrs. Turner had two sons in the army. She doesn't look old enough.

Two of the children are along this year. Bobradine is a music student at North Texas State college, Denton. She joined her parents when the school year ended. A son, James, is a crewman. Another daughter is Mrs. Jack K. Williams of Dallas. Another son, Lesley R., was reported missing in action while fighting with the 707th Tank Battalion of the First Army.

Because the Turners have made so many harvest trips, "We feel as much at home at places we stop as we do in Corsicana," she says.

The Turners often have discussed which town along the route they'll settle down in when they stop their yearly trips, but they haven't yet decided.

Turner has offered to "settle down" often, but Mrs. Turner says she knows he likes the work. So they'll continue following the harvests as long as he wants to.

"Sometimes I want to settle down," she said, "but when the crews start getting ready in the spring, I get anxious to go, too, and right then I start packing."

Mrs. Turner especially enjoys the scenery on the three and one-half to five - month tour. She is a camera fan and has pictures of much of her travel routes.

The three combines in the Turner outfit usually cut 100 acres in a day which begins with breakfast at 6 a. m. and ends with supper as late as 10 p. m When they hit an ideal stretch, the combines can cover 150 acres.

"It makes a good living but you don't get ahead fast," Mrs. Turner says. "It costs so much to replace machinery."

Despite their long hours and nomadic life, the crewmen manage to stay clean and neat — possibly Mrs. Turner's influence. The crew sleeps under any handy shelter. When none is available, they pitch tents which they carry on their tour.

Takes Over Beer Firm

Adam Brandt yesterday announced he has purchased Joseph's Geiger's interest in the Geiger-Brandt Distributing company and now is sole owner of the company which will be known as the Brandt Distributing company.

Brandt said he will operate five trucks in a seven-county area around Mansfield, and plans to add more equipment and help later as the business expands.

The company, located at 326 Cedar street, is a distributor of four brands of beer.

Before purchasing an interest in the Geiger-Brandt company, Brandt was associated with the Bissman company for 19 years.

PLANE SEEKS HURRICANE

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — A Miami-based navy "hurricane hunting" plane was sent out to investigate reports of the first tropical storm of the season some 300 miles south southwest of New Orleans yesterday.

Serve Yourself Gas Stations Facing Powerful Opposition

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Serve yourself gas stations are facing some mighty stubborn opposition, but their low prices are boosting sales volume.

In just two years the stations where you do all your own work in gasing-up have mushroomed in southern California and extended to a number of other states.

Since George R. Urich opened the first "gaseteria" in east Los Angeles, operators have followed the lead to the extent that southern California now has nearly 100 self-service stations, and trade sources estimate there are that many more throughout the country.

Opposition to the cut - rate movement comes mostly from established filling station operators. The new-type station has been banned or restricted in 11 states and a number of municipalities by law.

Directors of the American Petroleum institute, an industry organization, several months ago adopted a resolution disapproving of the new stations "as a menace to the petroleum industry's proud safety record."

Spokesmen for some of the major petroleum companies say they have taken no stand in the matter themselves on a national basis. They prefer to wait and see the trend more clearly before coming out with a public position either for or against.

Los Angeles itself and nine other California cities have outlawed the new look in gas and oil marketing; but in Los angeles county the movement is thriving and doing great business.

"I'd never go back to the old way of operating," says Urich, who now has eight stations and plans 10. "Last month my serve-urself stations pumped 1,500,000 gallons. The best I ever did with my 25 old-style service stations was 250,000 gallons a month."

Urich says he sold 450,000 gallons of gas the first month his east Los Angeles self-servicer was open. The next month he sold his chain of 25 regular stations and went into self service for keeps.

Book Binders Agree To End Week Strike

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A week-long strike of 83 bookbinders at 16 plants was settled yesterday.

Spokesmen for Columbus bookbinders Union no. 47 said the principal issue at stake — an escalator clause — had been removed from a new contract. An escalator clause is designed to tie wages to fluctuations in the cost of living.

ENTERS INNOCENT PLEA

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Howard Wedebrook, 33, of Portsmouth, pleaded innocent Saturday to a charge of forgery. He is a former Ohio State University football player.

Finds Proper Time To Cut Hay, Vetch

DAVIS, Calif. — (AP) — The best time for cutting vetch and oats for hay has been determined by Professor B. A. Madson and G. Jones on the Davis campus of the University of California. Vetch is best for hay when cut in full bloom. Oats makes good hay if cut when the grain is in the soft-dough stage.

Money Museum Displays 'Coins' Ranging From Elephant Tails To Shark Vertebrae

NEW YORK — (AP) — Fort Knox hasn't seen anything.

All the government repository in Kentucky has is gold. So far as anyone outside the treasury knows, there aren't any elephant tails, sticks of tobacco or shark vertebrae in the vaults.

Yet if you are fresh out of gold, there are places in the world where the last named items, or something equally bizarre, will be accepted as coin of the realm.

Take, for instance, the Island of Yap, one of the Carolines group in the Pacific. If you ever get stuck there, a large stone disk—30 inches in diameter, weighing 175 pounds and looking for all the workd like a New England millstone—will buy you 10,000 coconuts, one-quarter acre of land, a canoe—or a wife.

The stone money of Yap is only one example of the unique money standards in some regions of the world.

The Chase National bank of New York has one or two Yap stone "coins" on hand and many other weird forms of legal tender. These will not be found in its foreign exchange department, however, but are among 75,000 specimens in its museum collection of money of the world.

The specimens range in age from ancient spade-shaped copper money of China, about 4,000 years old, to the U. S. $20 bill that pictures the White House with President Truman's new balcony.

They range in size from the Yap money to a 150-year-old gold coin of Colpata, southern India, that weighs one grain and is little bigger than the head of a common pin.

The Swedes were no pikers, either, when it came to heavy money. The bank has a swedish eight daler coin of 1663—a copper slab measuring 12 by 24 inches and weighing 31 pounds. These were used, when Sweden was on the copper standard.

The collection demonstrates that some places in Africa are on the salt standard, not the gold standard. A 48-pound slab of salt encased in wicker is legal currency in those areas. One of these slabs is full payment for a wife.

In addition to the salt standard there were, and in some cases still are, the dog's tooth standard, the rabbit tail standard, and the standards of copper bells, chocolate, woodpecker scalps and tiger claws.

Stick tobacco heavily flavored with licorice once was manufactured in Petersburg, Va., expressly as money for natives of some South Seas islands.

Among the natives of the Congo, a special type of cotton cloth cut to a standard size of 3 by 22½ feet still is the chief unit of value. Its worth in temrs of exchange is about $1 in U. S. money.
